

Italy Ready for 'Partial' Recall Of Spanish Force

Wants Withdrawal 'in Equal Quantities From Both Sides'
CONFAB ADJOURNED
Diplomats Want Chance To Consult Their Governments

London—(AP)—Count Dino Grandi, Italy's delegate, told the non-intervention subcommittee today that Italy "accepts the proposal for partial withdrawal of a certain number of volunteers" from the Spanish Civil war.

The nine-power subcommittee adjourned until early next week after hearing statements by the British, French, Italian and German members.

The main question before the meeting was that of withdrawing foreign volunteers—especially Italian—from the Spanish war to remove the principal source of danger that a general European conflict would emanate from Spain.

The adjournment, to consult the governments represented, came after the earl of Plymouth and Ambassador Charles Corbin had presented the British and French proposals for getting foreign warriors out of Spain.

Offers Cooperation
In offering cooperation Count Grandi, however, specified that withdrawals must be "in equal quantities from both sides."

This, he said, was to be regarded as "a substantial beginning of the application" of the British plan for evacuation of foreign volunteers from Spain.

The British and French spokesmen again pressed all members to urge speedy action on their governments.

The next meeting was fixed for Tuesday, Oct. 19.

Count Grandi suggested that both Spanish factions be approached for their views concerning withdrawal.

Takes Dig at Eden
The Italian, although agreeing to a "token withdrawal" under the conditions of the British plan, took a dig at Eden for his strong speech at Llandudno, Wales, last night, in which the British foreign secretary warned of grave consequences if quick action on the volunteers question was not forthcoming.

In an obvious reference to Eden's statement that British patience was "well nigh exhausted" by "prolonged intervention" in Spain, Grandi evidently referring to Italian support of the insurgents—Count Grandi said:

"I am wondering whether statements which I have just read in the morning papers, as far as they appear to reflect the foreign policy of Great Britain, are actually likely to help the work of our committee and above all the cause of the non-intervention policy."

The Italian also took occasion to protest against "the intolerable abuse" of neutral flags "by vessels carrying prohibited war material to the Spanish Reds (government) and even by ships belonging to the Spanish Reds."

Italian, French Demands
Prominent in Count Grandi's speech was a demand that belligerent rights be accorded insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco's regime. For France, Corbin said this could not be granted until volunteers were being withdrawn "in a satisfactory manner."

The conflict between Italy and Soviet Russia, which has punctuated the history of the non-intervention committee with frequent crises, arose again.

Count Grandi, in an evident slap at Russia, which opposes recognition of the Franco regime in any manner, said:

"Those who declare themselves in favor of non-intervention but against recognition of belligerent rights cannot be considered as neutral in respect to the Spanish conflict."

DELEGATION HEAD

Norman H. Davis (above) today was designated as head of the United States delegation to the nine-power treaty conference, which will be held Oct. 30 at Brussels.

The government today formally accepted an invitation to take part in the conference.

United States to Participate in Treaty Conclave

Washington—(AP)—The United States formally accepted today an invitation to participate in the nine-power treaty conference over the Far Eastern crisis at Brussels on Oct. 30 and designated Norman H. Davis to head this government's delegation.

Secretary Hull, in announcing the acceptance a few minutes after the Belgian ambassador had delivered the formal invitation, told his present conference the delegation probably will sail the middle of next week.

Other members of the American delegation were announced by Hull as follows:

Dr. Stanley Hornbeck, special political advisor to the secretary of state on Far Eastern affairs.

J. Pierrepont Moffet, chief of the state department's European division.

Robert T. Pell, an attaché of the European division, and Charles E. Bohlen, also attached to the European division.

Hornbeck and Moffet will act as advisors to Davis in the conference proceedings. Pell will accompany the delegation as press officer and Bohlen will act as secretary.

The general expectation was that the delegation will sail from New York on the United States liner Washington next Wednesday.

China and Japan stood out as the primary objective of the United States at the conference.

This policy, outlined yesterday by President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, N. Y., will form the basis of instructions to the American delegation.

The president indicated plainly the United States intends to propose that the conference attempt to mediate the Sino-Japanese conflict by seeking an agreement between them to end hostilities and to strive for a peaceable adjustment of their difficulties.

Magic In Real Estate

When a Cincinnati realtor recently took a customer to inspect three buildings worth $12,000, all they found was a truck driver hauling away the last of the bricks that had gone into the houses. A suspect, arrested, admitted he had "sold" the buildings for $10 to a stranger he had met on the street. It is believed that for a quick real estate sale, this one holds the record. ### Simmons Workers Select A. F. of L.

Chosen as Bargaining Agency by Vote of 1,278 to 1,051

Kenosha—(AP)—Employees of the Simmons company chose the American Federation of Labor as their bargaining agency in a state labor board supervised election here yesterday.

The balloting, 1,278 for the A. F. of L. and 1,051 for the CIO, culminated a spirited pre-election campaign by the two labor organizations.

The Simmons' union charter recently was suspended by the A. F. of L. and its president, Assemblyman Emil Costello, expelled from A. F. of L. ranks.

Following suspension of the charter members of the union voted to affiliate with the CIO. The A. F. of L. then organized a new union under the old A. F. of L. charter.

An election to determine who was to be bargaining agent was called when both groups claimed a majority of Simmons' employees as members.

32 Killed in Alabama Mine Blast Tragedy

Virtually Entire Crew in One Wing Wiped Out By Explosion

COAL GAS BLAMED
Fallen Debris and Lack Of Oxygen Handicapped Rescuers

Birmingham, Ala.—(AP)—A terrific explosion killed 32 trapped men deep in Mulga coal mine near Birmingham early today.

Rescue crews battled heroically through smoke and dangerous gases to bring out the blackened and mutilated bodies.

Only one elbow of the mine was affected. Had the blast occurred near the mine entrance, all of the 350 workers at Mulga would have been trapped.

Mangled and burned, the bodies were brought up from the depths on coal cars. Approximately 500 spectators, including distraught wives, children and parents, watched the grim proceedings.

The detonation was heard in sections of Birmingham, more than 12 miles from the scene. Fire Marshal Sam Williams blamed coal gas for the blast.

Forrest Kelley, a miner, was first to reach his stricken fellow workers.

Possible "Black Damp"
"Some of them must have been killed by 'black damp,'" he said. "They might have been saved if they had remained in a small pocket which was not demolished."

A single victim, Ivan Fox, who was working near the elbow crumpled by the explosion, was brought out alive. He was seriously burned and Marshal Williams said he was the only person working near the blast "who did not lose his life."

Fox was in critical condition at a Bessemer, Ala., hospital and could not be questioned about the explosion.

R. M. Marshall, Woodward vice president, said bodies of the victims were located about four miles from the shaft mouth by the rescue crews, which sent back word that many were buried in fallen rock and coal. The victims were about equally divided between Negroes and whites, he said.

Drunken Driver Fined $50, Costs License of Milwaukee Man Revoked for One Year

Fred Johnson, Milwaukee, pleaded guilty of drunken driving when arraigned in municipal court this morning before Judge Thomas D. Ryan and was fined $50 and costs under the city ordinance with an alternative of 60 days in the county detention camp.

Johnson also was fined $50 and costs and his license was revoked for one year under state law.

The state fine was remitted upon payment of costs. He also paid a fine of $5 and costs for operating his car without transfer of title.

The Milwaukee man was arrested by Appleton police about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon. He was accused of driving erratically on N. Oneida street.

Denies DuPont Sells Firearms to Japanese

New York—(AP)—Representatives of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company said today the DuPont company and its subsidiaries had not accepted orders for munitions from either Japan or China since the outbreak of hostilities.

In a formal statement, the company said it was still filling orders for war materials placed by China "before the present situation developed."

Christian Beck, general manager here for the Hamburg American line, said a $125,000 shipment of DuPont-made explosives left Oct. 8 on the Hamburg liner St. Louis for Hamburg and trans-shipment to China.

The shipment, he said, consisted of 17,000 fifty-pound cases of T. N. T.—425 tons. A DuPont statement said it was delivered to a Chinese representative at the company's Wisconsin plant.

President Roosevelt recently banned munitions shipments on government-owned vessels, but there is no restriction on private lines.

Farmer Is Killed While Employee Unloads Rifle

Dodgeville, Wis.—(AP)—Albert Foss, 40, was instantly killed last night by a shot from a .22 caliber rifle which Under Sheriff Clarence Holman said was fired accidentally by Henry Shady, 40, an employee of Foss. The bullet entered Foss' temple.

Holman said the two men were about a quarter mile from the Foss farm home, and that the accident occurred when Shady was unloading the rifle. He said Shady told him they were out hunting for the farm dog.

No decision was announced whether a coroner's inquest would be held.

Find Bodies of Doctor and Wife In Parked Auto

18-Year-Old Youth Confesses Killing Couple To Police

North Arlington, N. J.—(AP)—The bodies of a doctor and his wife were found in a parked auto today and Police Chief George Shippee said an 18-year-old youth admitted he killed the couple in South Paris, Maine, several days ago. He drove here with the bodies in the rear of the physician's automobile, Shippee said.

The youth arrested, Chief Shippee said, was Paul Dwyer, 18, of the Maine community, who was found by two policemen shortly before dawn sleeping in the car's front seat with his feet on the wheel. The slain couple, their heads apparently battered by a hammer were Dr. G. Littlefield and his wife, Lydia, both about 60 years old.

North Arlington is several miles from Newark and the car was parked on a highway that divided the township from neighboring Lynnhurst.

Questioned About Money
The youth was brought in to police headquarters for questioning about $197 police said he had in his pockets. Meanwhile, Shippee said, Patrolman Norman Turner went out to examine the car and rushed back to the police station with the declaration that a woman's body was under the rear seat.

At this point, Shippee said, the youth suggested they look in a trunk in the tonneau of the car. There they found the body of the physician, the chief said.

Vatican Paper Denies Order to Back Japan

Rome—(AP)—Observatore Romano, the Vatican's newspaper, today published a denial of reports that the holy see had instructed its missions in the Far East to cooperate with Japan in combating communism. The newspaper said:

"Although the falsity and tendentiousness of this news is manifest to anyone who knows the principles which guide the holy see's activity, nevertheless, preoccupied by the damage which false news may produce, especially with reference to Catholic missions in China, it hastens to deny this entire communication, declaring its contents did not come from Vatican authorities and are completely invented and false and manifestly tendentious."

The Observatore reprinted dispatches on this subject which were published in the United States.

Court Deliberates on Commission's Authority to Subpena Telegrams

Washington—(AP)—Supreme court justices met today to decide whether to pass on litigation involving the right of the securities commission to subpoena telegrams.

This case produced speculation over whether Justice Black would participate and, if so, whether attorneys would have grounds for challenging the decision.

As chairman of the senate lobby committee, Black aroused criticism in some circles in 1935 by using telegrams obtained by the communications commission which had been sent and received by persons under investigation.

Labor Groups Peace Confab Set for Oct. 25

Chairman of A. F. of L. Agrees to Meeting With CIO

THIRD PROPOSAL
Conclave Will be Held 'With or Without Commitments'

Denver—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor accepted today the CIO's proposal for a peace conference Oct. 25 at Washington, D. C.

Denver—(AP)—George Harrison, chairman of the American Federation of Labor Peace committee, said today "we'll be there," when told of the latest CIO peace proposal.

The CIO proposal called for a meeting Oct. 25 in Washington, "with or without commitments."

The federation had turned down two previous proposals this week because, leaders said, the CIO insisted upon the A. F. of L. agreeing to certain CIO principles in advance.

The new CIO offer was laid before the federation's executive council holding a post-convention meeting. Council members said they probably would draft a formal reply later today.

Harrison's committee includes Matthew Woll and Felix Knight, both A. F. of L. vice presidents. It has full authority to meet with the CIO at any time "without conditions or stipulations" to try to make peace.

Expects Meeting
William Green, A. F. of L. president, said he believed telegraphic negotiations of the last week "probably" would result in a peace meeting between the rival factions in labor's great civil war.

Green's declaration came last night after he and others of the federation's executive council told the CIO that any attempts to settle their long dispute must be undertaken "without prior commitments, stipulations or conditions by either side."

In Washington, government labor officials expressed belief that, once leaders of the two factions gathered around a table, they would find means of composing even the most serious differences.

Would Help New Deal
They cited the high cost of rival labor organizing campaigns as one possible incentive for a settlement.

Administration officials in Washington privately expressed hope the unification movement would succeed.

Victim's Mother to Face Murder Suspect

Milwaukee—(AP)—The newest Joyce Roberts murder suspect was to be confronted today by Mrs. Margaret Roberts, mother of the 11-year-old victim of a sex fiend, who said that despite his assertions both she and her slain daughter knew him well.

Authorities at the University of Wisconsin said late yesterday in Madison that there was "little deviation" on the facts of the university lie detector while the suspect was being questioned. Sheriff Edward J. Mitten said the man will be taken to Chicago for another lie detector test late today.

The body of Joyce Roberts, who was attacked and strangled was found July 31 in Menomonee creek, near Grandville. Wis. Playmates of the girl saw a man make advances at Joyce at McKinley beach before she was lured to her death. They also were to view the suspect today.

Mitten said the suspect has admitted he attended the girl's funeral, and offered to give rides from the cemetery home to several of the girl's pallbearers.

Killed in Train and Auto Crash at Elkhorn

Elkhorn, Wis.—(AP)—J. F. McLaughlin, 66, of Ringwood, Ill., an inspector for the Bowman Dairy company working in the vicinity of Sharon, Wis., was instantly killed today two miles west of Dodgeville, Wis., when a fast Milwaukee road passenger train struck his automobile. McLaughlin was alone.

Minority in Revolt as Nominees Win Offices; Wild Session Is Ended

Special Session Sure to Result in Bitter Campaign
Defeated Coalition Members Will Charge 'Dictatorship'

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Reporter

Madison—As the special session of the Wisconsin state legislature came to an end today, one fact, clear and indisputable, stood out above all others, namely, that the session has prepared the fuel for what next year will be one of the most furious political campaigns the state has seen in recent decades.

The battles in legislative halls are over for this year, but the political headwinds, the bottled up rage of a suppressed coalition minority, memory of the unprecedented tactics of the victorious majority, will linger on.

While executive office aids, and the members of the LaFollette majorities in each house in the closing hours of the session were exulting over the phenomenal success of their program—11 huge bills disposed of in one week—minority Republicans and Democrats prepared to join hands in a concerted drive to unseat Progressive Governor LaFollette and his statehouse and legislative machine in the 1938 election.

Prepare for Campaigns
Democrats in their final caucus this week were instructed by party heads to begin their home district campaigns early. Accordingly, most members of the Democratic faith

Police Question Fugitive Slayer

James Widmer Asked of Whereabouts of Desperate Companions

Philadelphia—(AP)—U. S. Commissioner William S. Wecker held James Widmer, escaped Ohio convict, in $100,000 bail today for a further hearing on Monday.

James McCormick, assistant U. S. attorney, described Widmer as "the most dangerous criminal in the country and asked that the bail be set at $200,000."

The search for Charles and Frank Bird, other members of the "Bird gang," sent detectives and federal agents currying-combing the city.

The trio escaped together last month from the Cuyahoga county jail at Cleveland, Ohio, after cowering seven deputy sheriffs, stealing a judge's automobile and killing a woman whom they ran down in their mad flight.

Detectives said they expected Colonel Lynn Black, Ohio highway patrol superintendent, from Cleveland today to question Widmer about the slaying in grandstand fashion of Ohio Highway Patrolman George Conn, near Freeport, Ohio, several days after the trio escaped prison.

Widmer captured yesterday without any resistance by two motorcycle policemen checking for stolen automobiles will be arraigned before United States Commissioner William Wecker on charges of being a fugitive from justice.

Lumberman Bound Over On Charge of Arson

Oshkosh—(AP)—Edward F. Oatman, Rockford, Ill., lumber salesman who gave his home as Dayton, Ohio, was bound over to municipal court yesterday after a preliminary hearing on a charge of arson.

Oatman is charged with persuading Floyd Locke, his caretaker, to set fire to his lumber company buildings at Omro, Wis., July 1, causing a loss estimated at $13,000. Locke pleaded guilty to setting the fire and implicated Oatman Sept. 24.

Chinese Using Poisonous Gas, Japanese Claim

Correspondents Shown Shell at Office of Consulate General

Shanghai—(AP)—Japanese authorities staged a dramatic demonstration today of alleged Chinese use of poison gas.

Fifty foreign correspondents were assembled in the office of the Japanese consulate general to receive an announcement which they had been told would be so momentous it had to be made on Japanese territory.

They were shown a shell which emitted evil smelling fumes which the Japanese asserted was phosgene smoke. Lieutenant Colonel Hajime Tani, of the Japanese Chemical corps, declared the shell contained sufficient poisonous gas to kill the entire roomful.

Chinese reiterated their denial that they were using poison gas. They declared a demonstration such as the Japanese gave would be possible in any high school chemistry laboratory.

Six Shells Seized
(The Japanese foreign office in Tokyo earlier had declared it had "indisputable proof" that the Chinese were using phosgene gas.)

An official spokesman declared that six shells with unusual red markings were seized Oct. 14 when a Japanese patrol surprised the crew of a Chinese freight mortar on the Tapingkiang-Liuhong sector, north of Shanghai.

Chemical and medical tests, the Japanese declared, definitely proved that the shells contained sufficient poison gas to cause asphyxiation under favorable conditions.

The curl of fumes arising from the quantity left in the exhibit, however, was enough to cause only a slight headache.

A spokesman said gas mask precautions saved the Japanese from casualties.

Neighbor Testifies in Wagner Murder Trial

Cincinnati—(AP)—Anna Marie Hahn returned to the courtroom today with the testimony ringing in her ears that she had stated during the illness of Jacob Wagner, for whose death she is on trial for her life that he "would not return" from the hospital.

Mrs. Ida Martin, who formerly lived in the tenement home where Wagner, 78, resided, told the jury last night.

"Mrs. Hahn came to my door and said 'I sent the old man to the hospital. You know he is my uncle.' 'I said that I didn't know Wagner was sick and she answered 'Yes, he has been sick for two or three days. You know he fell and knocked a hole in his head. You know he isn't coming back and there's lots of things in his room which you could use and I will give them to you.'"

They were to succeed Charles D. Ross, Detroit, who had been a member of the commission since 1921, and Alvin Johnson, Hayward, appointed by Governor Schmiedeknecht in 1933.

Seven leaders of various farm groups were appointed to the new state board of agriculture and markets, replacing Charles L. Hill and Fred Scrutens, carry over members of the full time commission which was abolished.

The old agriculture commission and the state board of control were among the bureaus eliminated under the governor's reorganization bill. While this bill had not been signed it permitted the executive to make his appointments in advance.

Progressives Force Confirmation of Appointments

MAY GO TO COURTS
Gunderson on Tax Commission; Jack Given Farm Post

Madison—(AP)—Under the strict rule of the gavel, which ended one of the wildest sessions the state senate has ever seen, Progressive leaders today forced confirmation of Governor LaFollette's appointments under the state departmental reorganization bill.

With the minority bloc refusing to vote and raising cries of "hell chairman," the senate approved in blanket form the appointment of members of the new state boards of agriculture, corrections and hygiene—agencies that will take over the functions of the old commissions of agriculture and board of control.

The session lasted, according to the senate clock, half an hour beyond noon, which was the hour that minority forces claimed the legislature stood adjourned.

Court Fight Possible
The disordered procedure, in which President Pro Tem Walter Rush (R), Neillsville, frequently called upon the sergeant's staff to have members seated, raised the question that the governor's appointments to reorganized departments may be challenged in the courts.

Rush presided in the absence of Lieutenant Governor Henry Gunderson.

APPROVE APPOINTMENT
Madison—Governor LaFollette's appointment today of Harry Jack, Hortonville, to the new state board of agriculture drew praise from Senators Mike Mack (R), Shiocton, and Herman J. Severson (D), Iowa.

"Jack is qualified in every way," Mack said, "I am heartily in favor of his appointment, and congratulate the governor on his choice. Mr. Jack is an effective farm leader and a good farmer," he said.

Severson, one of the Progressive floorleaders, termed the choice of Jack "an excellent one."

The Outagamie county appointee is prominent in many state farm organizations, and is president of the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool. A high ranking Progressive, last year he was a candidate for the office of lieutenant governor in the Progressive primary.

derson, Portage, who was appointed by Governor LaFollette and confirmed, 31 to 2, the senate for a post on the state tax commission.

All the governor submitted 24 appointments, six of which were confirmed without objection.

Administration forces began employing what the opposition termed "gag rule" when the hands of the clock crept around to 12. President Pro Tem Rush held that points of order raised by the minority were purely "dilatory" and could not be entertained.

Refuse to Vote
On most of the major appointments to new departments minority forces refused to vote unless they could pass upon each appointment individually. The roll calls showed such results as 19 to 1 in favor of confirmation, although the full senate of 33 was in attendance.

At 15 minutes after 12 Governor LaFollette submitted a message vetoing that part of the relief bill, passed a week earlier, which gave all counties a share of the $3,000,000 appropriated by the legislature.

The veto also was sustained, 19 to 1 while Democrats and Republicans, who claimed the legislature adjourned at noon, sat with hats and coats on in the role of spectators. They would not vote.

Mount Also Named
The lieutenant governor and Herbert I. Mount, Milwaukee, counsel for organized independent merchants, and former official of the insurance department, both were nominated to the tax commission.

They were to succeed Charles D. Ross, Detroit, who had been a member of the commission since 1921, and Alvin Johnson, Hayward, appointed by Governor Schmiedeknecht in 1933.

Seven leaders of various farm groups were appointed to the new state board of agriculture and markets, replacing Charles L. Hill and Fred Scrutens, carry over members of the full time commission which was abolished.

CIO Drafts Plans For Expansion and End of Labor War

Discussions Show Interest In Maneuvers for Peace With A. F. of L.

Atlantic City, N. J.—(AP)—The CIO again asked the A. F. of L. today to send representatives to a peace conference in Washington Oct. 25 "with or without commitments."

Philip Murray, chairman of a special committee named to arrange the meeting and confer with federation representatives, sent this telegram today to Frank Morrison, secretary-treasurer of the federation, at Denver.

"Our committee will meet your committee at Washington Oct. 25 with or without commitments as you prefer."

"If you decide to cease quibblings and attend conference advise me Pittsburgh."

John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization declined to comment on this latest move in maneuvering which many labor leaders hoped would lead to a united labor movement.

Atlantic City, N. J.—(AP)—The Committee for Industrial Organization embarked today on a militant program of expansion and responsibility and peace with the American Federation of Labor.

John L. Lewis, CIO chairman, ended five days of strategy conferences with leaders of his unions yesterday by exhorting them to renew their campaign for improvement of working conditions for American labor built around CIO principles of industrial unionism.

His chiefs immediately took to the city and engaged determination to report more progress at national convention they authorized the CIO executive council to call at any time.

They reported this week almost 4,000,000 members, total expenditures of $1,750,000 in 16 months, and claimed their unions were thriving despite encounters with industry and occasional organization difficulties.

Pledges Cooperation

The conference unanimously approved a resolution pledging the CIO to cooperate with companies which signed collective bargaining agreements with it, critical to some actions of the administration, congress and two government departments and condemned Japan for its undeclared war with China.

But, in all the discussions there was prime interest in maneuvers with the A. F. of L. for a reconciliation of their clashing organizational theories so their reported combined total of 8,000,000 members could be fused into one labor movement.

The delegates first proposed that 100 representatives from each organization discuss the matter but the federation rejected that number and suggested committees of three. The CIO yesterday made still another offer—that ten men from its ranks and a delegation from the federation meet in Washington Oct. 25 to discuss terms and other details of a conference that would be held later.

Wait Federation Reply

Lewis and five of his unofficial board of strategy waited last night for the reply the federation sent. The telegram was sent to Washington and had to be forwarded to this city.

They declined to comment on the fragmentary reports of the federation's most recent attitude in a week of maneuvering to avoid blame for not ending labor's war.

But privately they expressed the opinion there still might be "a pretty good chance that we will get together."

Throughout the conference here they insisted peace was their aim.

Lewis appeared to have expressed the general sense of the CIO attitude when he said:

"You may be assured that in the conferences that may or may not eventuate with the A. F. of L. your representatives will do nothing that will in any way circumscribe or limit the influence or the trend of our movement or in any way contribute towards a lessening of the effort of our mutual enterprise."

"We are practically 4,000,000 strong today in less than two years of actual organizing effort. When two years more elapse we will have more millions in our great movement."

"If the A. F. of L. chooses to lay aside its prejudices and join the CIO in working out a program of unity—as well as they do not do so, the responsibility for that decision will be upon their own head and their own shoulders. But, the CIO will go on—it will go on working out its own destiny, and its destiny is to make true some of the dreams of its millions of members."

Three Firemen Injured

In $100,000 Fresno Fire

Fresno, Calif.—(AP)—A wind-whipped fire that broke out in a building 150 feet from the city hall injured three firemen and caused damage estimated at $100,000 early today.

Eight buildings were destroyed before 100 gas-masked firefighters extinguished the flames.

The three injured firemen, Harold Peterson, 35, J. B. Conley, 32, and F. O. Witt, 33, were treated for exposure to smoke and minor burns after they collapsed in a flaming building.

One of the eight buildings was an apartment house.

A score of partially clad tenants fled in time to escape injury.

The blaze roared through buildings on Broadway and halted a festive party at a small tavern, which was razed.

Chief Williams said the fire apparently started in the rear of an auto paint shop.

yesterday and today were busy with scissors and paste preparing the roll calls, the journal records, and the press clippings which they will carry with them as ammunition on the forthcoming election battlefields.

Democrats in the legislature, many of whom are outspoken supporters of a fusion with Republicans next year, frankly admitted their plans. They will make the most of the charges of liquor consumption by Progressive members on the floor during midnight sessions which saw an air-tight Progressive majority writing laws without hearings, without opportunity for debate, traditional boast of Wisconsin legislators, and with but slight attention to the angry protests of the opposition.

Arbitrary Rulings

They will exhibit pages from the official journal of proceedings to show that Speaker Paul Alfonso frequently allowed his lieutenants to "move the previous question" to shut off debate, that Thomas N. Duncan and Gordon Sinykin, the governor's secretaries, on the floor of both senate and house giving instructions to Progressive floor leaders, they will charge "dictatorship," pointing to arbitrary rulings by Speaker Alfonso and his refusal to allow appeals from his decisions, something

Billie Kolb is city attorney and the five commissioners are Charles Killefoth, citizenship; Ann Smith, health; June Kuehnstedt, safety; Karlory Courtney, public service; and John Leonard, clean-up.

Officers in the 9W are: city manager, Bill Koerner; commissioner, Janet Baril; clean-up, Jane Piette; public service, Arlene Kahler; citizenship, Carl Goldbeck; safety, Kenneth Loos; city attorney, Robert Hob.

Ickes will be introduced by Paul E. Stark, Madison, president of the association, who spoke here recently at a Rotary meeting.

seldom seen in the Wisconsin assembly.

They will point to the invocation by the administration of the extraordinary device of requiring the assembly to pretend that Thursday was Wednesday in order to allow the Progressives to break down a six-month time limitation.

Meanwhile Progressives will be able to go back to their home bailiwicks with a legislative record of speed and significant new laws which has seldom been equalled in Wisconsin.

Administration Record

While his opponents will campaign on an issue of his dictatorial methods, his complete dominance of a constitutionally independent legislature, Governor LaFollette will be able to point to a $3,000,000 relief bill, for which northern Wisconsin has been clamoring these many months, a liberalization of the old age pension law, which will satisfy in part at least the hundreds of letters from the aged which have been pouring on his desk, a brand new farm program in the Wisconsin Agriculture Authority which has the support of numerous influential farm leaders, a modernized housing law, a reorganization of the state department of agriculture and markets, long ardently desired by many farm organizations, a free hand to shake up the organization of the state government, and other measures of more or less importance to special interest groups.

Governor Phil may justify his methods by pointing to the six month "do nothing" regular session of 1937, may plead emergency conditions, or, as one of his supporters suggested, may argue that the "iron fist" was necessary to best the lobbyists.

All in all, it seems certain that Wisconsin's electorate is going to hear plenty about the one month special session this year.

State Democrats, Republicans Will Study Fusion Plan

Coalition Supporters Will Meet Oct. 30 in Fox River Valley

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau) Madison—First definite step in the direction of a formal coalition of the Republican and Democratic parties in Wisconsin in their joint fight against the now dominant LaFollette Progressives came this week in the announcement that the advocates of fusion will hold a statewide rally to discuss the question Oct. 30.

Place of the meeting has not yet been definitely decided upon, but it will probably be Oshkosh, home of W. J. Campbell, veteran Republican leader, and one of the early supporters of the coalition idea. Fond du Lac is also being considered, however.

Valley Sympathetic

Organizers of the meeting, James Kerwin and Arnold of Milwaukee, explained that the Fox river valley was chosen as the location for the meeting because of the considerable sentiment for a Republican-Democratic merger which already exists there. Sympathy of the valley members of the legislators with the idea was also considered.

Queried here on their attitude toward the proposal, Fox river valley legislators expressed themselves as favorable.

Principal proponents in that area are Assemblymen Mark Cullen, Jr., of Appleton, a Republican, and Maurice Fitzsimmons, Fond du Lac, Democrat. Both are leaders for their parties in the lower house, and both have been taking an active part in the promotion of the fusion movement.

Many Oppose Plan

Catlin said that many of the official leaders of the party oppose the plan, but maintained that their attitude does not mean if the rank and file of the Wisconsin electorate receives it hospitably. "And the rank and file of Republican and Democrat voters are for it," he declared.

Other supporters are Assemblymen William Rohan of Kaukauna, and William Sweeney of Allouez, both Democrats, and A. G. Budlong of Marinette, a life long Republican, Francis A. Vindera of Manitowish, a Democrat, and Albert D. Shimek, Kewaunee, Democrat.

Both Senators Mike Mack, (R), Shiocton, of Outagamie and Shawano counties, and Pierce A. Morrissey, Democrat, of Winnebago and Calumet counties, are sympathetic although they refrain from active participation in promoting the movement. Mack feels that an informal coalition in home districts, through which the minority conservative party would step out in favor of the stronger conservative organization, would be preferable to a formal fusion throughout the whole state.

spent informally, after which a luncheon was served by the hostesses. The November meeting will be held with Mrs. Ed. Ebert.

Friends of Mrs. Robert Winkler honored her with a surprise birthday party on Wednesday evening at her home on N. Clinton avenue.

A supper was followed by three tables of bridge at which the prizes went to Mrs. G. M. Goodrick and Mrs. John Winkler.

The Clintonville Woman's club will hold its second meeting of the season on Monday afternoon, Oct. 18, at the Finney library.

County to Pay More Toward Relief Bill Than It Will Get From State

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison—Brown and Outagamie counties are destined to contribute considerably more toward the $3,000,000 emergency relief measure recently passed by the legislature than they will receive in state aids for relief expenditures, tabulations by the state department of public welfare and the state tax commission showed today.

Assuming that Brown and Outagamie counties will spend as much for relief next year as they are expected to spend during 1937, $158,560 and $122,142 respectively, P. D. Flanner, director of the public welfare department, estimated that Brown county next year will receive $7,628 in state relief aids, while Outagamie will get about $6,457.

The legislature provided that the $3,000,000 appropriation should be spent largely for relief of distress through "fire department methods," but that all counties will be reimbursed for 5 per cent of their relief expenditures.

Inheritance Surtax

However, figures from the tax commission show that in a typical year, under a normal inheritance tax, Brown and Outagamie counties each contribute about $50,000 to the state treasury. The emergency relief law is financed by an inheritance surtax, which will be reflected in a corresponding increase in the taxes paid by the two counties.

According to the tax commission, the relief bill of the state government during the next year will be borne almost entirely by the lake shore and Fox river valley counties, who pay the bulk of the inheritance tax and the surtax.

The estimated expenditures for relief of other counties in the northeastern district, and the estimated amounts they will receive from the relief appropriation were listed by Flanner as follows:

List Figures

Calumet: expenditures, $16,745, state aid, $837.

Door: expenditures, $38,747, state aid, $1,938.

Kewaunee: expenditures, $19,756, state aid, $838.

Manitowoc: expenditures, $144,584, state aid, $7,229.

Marquette: expenditures, $203,320, state aid, $10,166.

Shawano: expenditures, $65,920, state aid, $3,295.

Waupaca: expenditures, $66,399, state aid, $3,320.

Winnebago: expenditures, $262,824, state aid, $13,141.

The bulk of the $3,000,000 appropriation will go to the same 27 northern counties who have been receiving state grants for the past year, according to Thomas N. Dunbar, director of the state fiscal advisor, who drew up the "fire department" bill.

Emergency grants will be made by the state emergency board wherever it is determined that local relief emergencies exist. Dunbar said that he thought it probable that Oconto and Marinette counties would participate in the appropriation for sizeable amounts.

Aldermen Award Paving Contract To Appleton Men

Turn Down Proposal To Develop Swimming Beach At Lutz Park

The council at a special meeting last night awarded the W. College avenue paving contract to Simpson and Parker, Appleton contractors. The work will start immediately. Development and care of Lutz park was made a park board obligation but the council turned down a resolution to give the board $2,500 to carry on the development. The council also killed, by a 6 to 5 vote, a resolution to authorize the park board to develop a bathing beach in the park. Aldermen Brautigam, Franzke, Kubitz, Thompson, Knutzi and Vanderheyden were opposed to the beach.

It was explained that the park board will not require the $2,500 until next year when it can be included in the annual park board budget.

Contracts for paving West College avenue were held in abeyance while the city and the county were endeavoring to work out a connection with Superhighway 41 by extension of College avenue. This week it finally was decided to obtain the connection over Highway 125. The Simpson and Parker bid of $13,550.49 was one of four submitted to the council on July 13.

To Start Immediately The contractor, who was at last night's meeting, said he expected to begin work immediately and that the project would be completed in about three weeks. He said the street would be closed about 14 days after completion to allow concrete to set.

A heated argument followed the motion, made by Alderman Keller, chairman of the Lutz park committee, to turn development of the park over to the park board, to grant the board $2,500 and to develop a swimming beach at the park.

The issue involved the beach development clause. The history of the movement to construct some kind of swimming pool in Appleton was reviewed and all the old arguments plus new ones in favor of building it in Lutz park were advanced by Alderman Keller, as chairman of the committee.

Object to Noise Several persons living on River drive, across the river from the proposed beach improvement, told the council that the noise of a public beach would constitute a public nuisance and would depreciate the value of their property.

Alderman Brautigam raised several questions about the depth of the water, jagged rocks and the difficulty of keeping sand on the bottom, because of current.

E. B. Rachow, chairman of the park board, told the council that $2,500 would be only a starter in the development of the park. He said the board plans to develop all parks gradually, but that it would not exceed its budget in any one year.

Mr. Rachow said that a project such as the Lutz park development was welcomed by the board at this time because it would now be possible to keep employees, who would have been laid off, on work.

The council heard A. C. Bossert, attorney for Green and Sons Construction Company explain that because some citizens had indicated they were not entirely satisfied with the black top paving job on College avenue he wanted to know what the aldermen thought about the work. Mayor Goodland said he had heard complaints that the work was not entirely satisfactory, but Engineer Lloyd Schindler said it was a satisfactory job.

Mr. Bossert said that in some places it was necessary to leave the binder portion of the pavement and lay only a tough wearing surface because there isn't room for both in places where the top of the brick pavement and the top of the new concrete cutter are close together.

Alderman Steinhauer said he had heard complaints but said that the city was protected by a five year bond. He indicated that most of the complaints were coming from persons who did not understand the engineering problems involved.

Church May Enter Campaign Against Social Diseases

Two Resolutions to be Brought Before Triennial General Convention

Cincinnati—(AP)—The Rt. Rev. Henry Saint George Tucker of Richmond, Va., bishop of Virginia, was elected presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church today.

A move to put the Protestant Episcopal church in the campaign against venereal diseases was initiated today.

While thousands of delegates and visitors at the triennial general convention awaited the balloting on presiding bishop, the house of deputies approved and sent to the house of bishops for concurrence these two resolutions:

Endorsing the campaigns of health organizations against syphilis and gonorrhea church members to cooperate in the dissemination of information for combating it, and

Certifying that requiring couples to submit a physician's certificate certifying they were free of venereal diseases before they could be married by an Episcopal minister.

Both actions will be concurred in by the bishops, informed churchmen said. That relating to a physician's certificate would become a part of the church's canons, which would not apply in states where such certificates are required by civil law.

The controversy over the church league for industrial democracy, an organization composed largely of Episcopalians which is opposed to the profit system, came to the fore again today as Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers union, a CIO affiliate, came here to speak before the league.

The invitation to Martin has been criticized by the Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, bishop of New York, and other churchmen on the ground it might be misconstrued as placing the church on the side of the CIO in its fight with the American Federation of Labor.

Strike Settled At Oshkosh Plant

Wage Increase Granted in Terms Accepted by Union Workers

Oshkosh—(AP)—Union workers ended a 14-week strike at the Wisconsin Match corporation by voting 152 to 7 last night to accept a settlement offered by the management.

Francis B. Gerhart of Barberston, O., president of the A. F. of L. National Match Workers council, said settlement provisions called for immediate wage increases of three cents an hour; an additional pay boost of one cent. March 1, 1938, recognition of the A. F. of L. United Match Workers local as bargaining agency; a 40-hour week, and time and a half pay for overtime, Sundays and holidays.

Gerhart said engineers and firemen would return to work and that they would be paid the prevailing city union scale in their classification. The agreement was expected to be signed today with the plant resuming production next Wednesday. Nearly 300 employees were thrown out of work by the strike.

Labor Leaders to Discuss Peace at Meeting Oct. 25

ced. A solidified labor organization, they explained, would help New Deal candidates in the 1938 elections.

Other reaction from Washington was the prediction of an authority to high labor circles that neither the A. F. of L. nor the CIO would ever bolt a peace conference. "Neither side will quitting the peace table without getting some kind of a settlement," that official, who declined to be quoted by name, said.

Green's declaration was contained in a telegram replying to the CIO's second peace suggestion this week—a proposal that 10 representatives from each organization meet in Washington Oct. 25 to discuss peace.

Federation Position For a second time, the A. F. of L. forces flatly declined to make acceptance of the industrial form of union organization, advocated by the CIO a condition upon which they would negotiate.

"We regard your answer to the A. F. of L. reply to the CIO's first peace proposal as a well-designed attempt to mislead the public and confuse the issue," the council's telegram to the CIO said.

The telegram again notified the CIO that the A. F. of L. has a standing committee of three members authorized to discuss settlement of the controversy. Previously the A. F. of L. gave notice it was willing to increase that committee to "reasonable" size.

"Please advise when you are ready to meet," the message said. Council in Session The executive council remained here for a final meeting today, but the scene of further overtures toward a conference with Washington appeared likely to shift to Washington. Council members indicated their belief the Lewis group would not respond before next week.

Green had accused the CIO of insincerity and bad faith when it first asked, earlier in the week, that each camp send 100 delegates to a peace party.

The council's telegram noted "particularly that this willingness to meet in conference on the part of the Committee for Industrial Organization is made conditional upon the American Federation of Labor accepting the terms and conditions, policies and procedures outlined in its telegram of Oct. 13."

Those conditions, Green asserted when the first peace message was received here, "would mean that we would have to join the CIO." The CIO's offer to discuss settlement with such stipulations, he contended, was insincere and in bad faith.

Large Crowd Sees McKinley Pupils Present Operetta

Colorful Costumes Used in Staging "Greig's Music Box"

New London—A crowd of 500 filled the Washington high school auditorium last night to see the McKinley school pupils' elaborate and colorful operetta, "Greig's Music Box," despite a sharp increase in adult admission prices over previous years.

The colorful and novel costumes drew the attention of the crowd, particularly the appearance of the Gloomy Ghouls. These were tiny kindergarten and first graders in short flaring smocks with large square paper bags over their heads.

When Grampy began feeling "wumpy," they appeared stalking about the stage in the elaborate light with long black canes and holding long handkerchiefs to the holes in their masks. They stopped only long enough to speak their piece.

The kindergarten and first grade girls presented a parol dance in gay costume with dainty colored parasols in all hues of the rainbow. Other novelties were the box chorus of the fourth grade and the stumpy episode of the second grade tots. The Old Man Stump was Robert Linberg.

Play Leading Roles

The leading roles of Grampy and his granddaughter Lola were well played by Leland Sengstock and Lois Linberg, who sang frequently in addition to their speaking roles. Carmen Oestreich as Hilda the maid played a prominent part and ably spoke the Norwegian accent. She sang solo and led several choruses, also taking part in the Norwegian dance of the fifth and sixth grade.

Ned, Lola's brother, was played by Douglas Estlund who sang duets with his make-believe sister and led the singing of the fourth grade boys in a leap frog stunt.

At the head of the third grade sailors dance was little Jacqueline Morack who performed solo during the number. A trio of Lola's girl friends, Sally Estlund, Eldora Haynes and Helen Frank, tripped through a dance number together near the finale. Between acts Barbara Melnhard did a solo tap dance and Joyce Krause and Dawnene Fehrmann imitated a pair of Parisian dancers. Joyce took the girl's part and Dawnene played the part of the boy.

The presentation of the operetta ran smoothly with each step of the story bringing up a song or dance number. The weeks of rehearsals were under the direction of the McKinley school teachers, the Misses Agnes Dennin, Luella Andrews, Genevieve Smith, Helen Smith, Jessie Cottrill, Marie Hankey and Mary K. Donohue, vocal instructor.

Behind the stage the lighting effects were controlled by Warren Spurr and the curtain was manned by Harry Herres, both high school students.

UNEMPLOYMENT, RELIEF AND MACHINERY

Senator James F. Byrnes of South Carolina has written the Post-Crescent advising that a special senate committee authorized and directed to investigate unemployment and relief is seeking to obtain views from every part of the country that it may advise congress that our national legislature in turn may be intelligently guided in solving the problems submitted to it for attention and particularly in relation to "unemployment and relief, including an estimate of the number of persons now unemployed by reason of the use of labor saving devices." The reason congress still wrestles with the question of unemployment and relief is because it permitted the President to handle these matters with regard to the political capital in them which necessarily closed the eyes of the nation to the truth.

Relief, always closely associated with unemployment, will never be handled excepting in the bungling manner in which it has been handled under Mr. Roosevelt so long as we avoid the basic proposition involved which is a personal one having to do with the determination that the individual requesting relief is actually and reasonably entitled to it.

That question will never be handled efficiently excepting by local governing units. And they will never handle it fairly unless a substantial part of the amount paid for relief is taken directly from the local taxpayer.

Insofar as so-called labor saving devices affect unemployment Senator Byrnes' committee should need no opinions from any spot excepting those generated by their own experiences. Labor saving devices do not make for unemployment at all except as the introduction of some new and radical machinery is the immediate cause of throwing a great many men out of work who will be assimilated again, and in better shape, by the very industry of building the labor saving devices.

That American labor is admittedly on the highest plane in the world is due in large measure to the wealth created by labor saving machinery. The Chinese farmer, you know, never heard of a tractor. When he wants wood he saws it by hand. His water is still pumped by weary human leg power stomping on a makeshift treadmill.

Whatever the detailed facts may be Senator Byrnes' committee will travel far to find anyone who believes that the administration of relief under the Roosevelt administration has not been corrupt and profligate and naturally extending an invitation to loafers and malingers to take advantage of their opportunity.

In respect to unemployment it will discover a cruel attitude toward older workers, somewhat stimulated by unemployment insurance. It will also find that the so-called marginal jobs paying but little more than relief allowances present a problem in that there are great numbers of such jobs but, with an unlimited national generosity, the inducement to take them has vanished.

MR. BRADY ACHIEVES AN AMBITION

"I will make Dillinger look like a piker," said modest Mr. Brady as he tucked a pair of Tommy guns under one arm and started out to do battle with America and make an enduring name for himself.

Mr. Dillinger, it may be remembered, fell in Illinois. Mr. Brady fell in Maine. Any unprejudiced umpire must give Brady a shade over Dillinger in selecting the state of his demise. Maine did not become famous because of elections nor on account of Quoddy but because its university had a Stein Sang so full of gurgling beer while Prohibition had the country in jail that it merits a place right at the head of the parade of states for a long time to come.

Then Mr. Dillinger, we may remind you, crumpled up on a cement sidewalk with a bullet back of his ear, paced as he was by the woman in red who sold him out for a roll of greasy bills to push down in her sock. Brady did not sink along a sidewalk. He was plumb in the middle of the road when the said road came up to meet him like lightning. Yes, Mr. Brady shuffled off this mortal coil in the center of the street car tracks.

Mr. Dillinger obtained six feet of ground in an Indiana cemetery. Brady only rated the Potter's Field. In this respect Dillinger gains a shade. But in the final score, the over-all, even conceding the contest a close and enthusiastic one, the public should conclude that Mr. Brady made good his boast. He obtains two points out of three on the score card of a gangster's life.

But if Dillinger worries about his defeat, he keeps remarkably quiet.

DIFFERENT SORTS OF PURGES

Over in Rome a purge is on. It will be well to compare it with the perennial purge in Russia.

Nine men were brought to trial for "plotting to change the form of government violently and for propaganda and the issue of revolutionary theories." Those found guilty were sentenced to terms in prison ranging from one to ten years.

If their future experiences are followed it will be observed that they are permitted to serve a relatively short period and upon writing a letter to Mussolini begging his pardon and promising to be good are pardoned and permitted to again mingle with the rest of the Italian people.

Mussolini has enough sense to know these men are not the criminal type. They are for the most part but the natural result of a policy aimed at suppression of political thought or suggestion.

Mussolini has enough sense to know, too, that a year or two in prison is quite a punishment for thinking or talking or planning.

The government that uses the death penalty in cases of this kind is not only savage and barbaric but, worse still, stupid and ignorant.

THE NATION HEREAFTER

Predictions made in the report of the President's national resources committee, written by Pres. C. A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin, give definite form to what many observers have been suspecting would happen hereafter.

There is acceptance of the idea, familiar in recent years, that the national population will soon become stationary, and eventually there may even be some loss.

City population will probably become static before the population does as a whole, because the tendency of automobile, radio and other space-defying facilities is to lessen the special appeal of the cities and spread people out through the country.

They will not spread merely along the seacoast as they did originally, or along railroads as they did later, but in all directions, wherever it is profitable and pleasant to live. That is an inevitable result of easy, flexible transportation and communication.

The changes that will be effected there-by on our social and economic life we have hardly begun to understand. It may result, as Kipling foreshadowed in a story written a quarter of a century ago, in a nation with far more privacy and individual life than we have now.

THE MAN WHO GAVE ADVICE

Back in 1929 Professor Rogers created quite a stir and became the idol of the news because in a graduating address delivered before the Massachusetts Institute of Technology he advised the young men individually "to be a snob and step right up and marry the boss's daughter." Some of these young graduates took Mr. Rogers' advice. And since that time they have been chasing him around the country.

When they married the boss's daughter they thought they would be in milk and honey but along came the depression and they found themselves loaded with liabilities, bankruptcy petitions and legal reorganizations.

Mr. Rogers is trying to square himself by a public apology.

What is good advice in one year cannot always be so classified.

PIE-WEDGE EQUALITY

Someone, it seems, has invented an equal-cut pie pan. Patent has been applied for. This important aid to domestic tranquillity ought to sweep the country.

True, there are people who can divide a pie into whatever number of wedges is required and have the results as true to measure as a geometrical figure. But though true to Mother's measure, the final result is often disputed, because brother draws a bigger piece than sister, and father wants to be sure there's a small second helping left for him.

The equal-cut tin may remind mother that after all pieces of pie are never too large and the only way to prevent squabbles is to make them equal in size.

Opinions Of Others

AN EDITORIAL ON PEACE

Or perhaps we should say, rather, a "pictorial" on peace. For what we have in mind is that if you really want to know how lucky you are to be living in a country at peace, you should drop in at the theater and see the latest "March of Time," or almost any of the China newsreels.

If that doesn't make you want this country to keep out of war nothing will. But let us add the corollary. If China today is being menaced by her own blood it is because she is both rich and virtually defenseless. Little Japan, with only 70,000,000 inhabitants, would never have dared tackle the China, with her 450,000,000, had China been anything like as strong as her manpower indicates she is.

Some day the great dream of that great American president, Woodrow Wilson, will come true. At least 85 or 90 per cent of the people of the world demand peace. Some day the world community, or league of nations, backed by this 85 or 90 per cent, will act collectively to prevent such things as are now going on in China.

But that time, sad to relate, is not yet—witness the repeated refusal of the existing

OKAY: POLLY WANTS A CRACKER

Jonah:

Since that certain Jap official accused President Roosevelt of throwing up a smoke-screen with his recent sensational speech to distract the attention of the American people away from domestic troubles, his opponents, including yourself, have been parroting the Jap. Can't you borrow your ideas from somebody else beside the people who are waging this unholy war?

—LAFOLLETTE PROGRESSIVE

P. S. As a heading, I would suggest, "Polly wants a cracker."

LaFollette Progressive errs openly. There was need to parrot the Jap spokesman (whose statement I, for one, missed) when what the President was up to, in rattling the saber and emulating (even as he denounced) Woodrow Wilson, was perfectly obvious.

It is a credit to Rooseveltian political skill that his plan worked. It is a discredit to the faith of the American people that he used the plan.

As for parroting, one might well accuse FDR of imitating Hitler and Mussolini in shouting WAR when affairs at home become embarrassing.

I suppose that the president has a mandate to wage the war, just as he had a mandate to appoint a kluxer to the Supreme court, however.

And a mandate to ignore the neutrality act as passed by the people's representatives.

And another mandate to go campaigning politically at the taxpayers' expense.

Not to mention the mandate to throw the books into the upward swing of the business cycle.

It all gets back to the point that anyone who disagrees with Mr. Big is a bum.

Thank goodness the football games are on this weekend and that we'll have something else to talk about.

When this was written yesterday afternoon, your correspondent had a premonition that Wisconsin was going to make it four straight today.

The first quarter or first half scores on the front page may tell you how nearly right his hunch was.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

DAY BEGINS!

She does not hear the birds that sing
 Outside her window pane,
 Or listen to the whispering
 Of trees or autumn rain.

Her day does not begin with these.
 For her the morning brings
 The sweetest of life's harmonies,
 When her brass kettle sings!

With cheerfulness she lights the fire,
 And puts the kettle on.
 She has her kitchen to admire
 In the first rays of dawn.

Her tolling hours with gladness start.
 No matter what day brings,
 She'll hear in her homemaking heart
 The song the kettle sings!

WHO WANTS TO LEARN TO FLY?

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
 Noted Physician and Author

NUTRITION AND COMPLEXION

In medieval physiology complexion was the combination of heat, cold, moisture and dryness which was believed to determine the nature of a body or plant; or the combination of four bodily humors—blood, phlegm or mucus, choler (yellow bile) and melancholy (black bile). Remember, it was not until the time the Pilgrims settled in New England that William Harvey, M.D., discovered the circulation of the blood—a doctrine he began to make known about 1613 but which was rejected as a queer notion by the big noises of the profession of that era—it took fifteen years for the profession to swallow and digest this crazy teaching of Dr. Harvey.

To this day current terms referring to temperament disposition constitution or complexion reflect ancient concepts long since discarded. For instance sanguine pertains to blood, red, rosy, ruddy; warm, ardent, hopeful, cheerful; phlegmatic means sluggish, calm, lymphatic, lacking energy, unexcitable; choleric means angry; irascible; and melancholy means gloomy, dismal, sad.

Technically we know that the condition of the skin, and hence the appearance of it, the complexion, depends on nutrition and hygiene. But actually millions of credulous folk and their medical advisers still imagine (1) that the skin absorbs medicines, foods or poisons, (2) that the skin "breathes" thru hypothetical "pores," and (3) that the skin is an important excretory organ "eliminating" or "throwing off" waste matter. No recognized authority on physiology supports these quaint notions, altho they enjoy vigorous support from certain subsidized medical propagandists.

The real functions of the skin are as follows: (1) It forms a sensory covering for the body, supplied with nerves which convey sensations of pressure, temperature, pain, irritation and so enable the body to make necessary adjustments to changes in the environment. (2) It serves as a mechanical and chemical barrier of defense. The horny layer of the cuticle mechanically protects against injuries, and the clear skin has an acid reaction which destroys bacteria in a short time, the creams, fats or dirt on the skin may interfere with this self-disinfectant action. (3) The most important function of the skin is the regulation of body temperature, by variations in the blood supply and by variations in the amount of water excreted, as sweat. (4) When exposed to sunlight or even skylight the skin generates vitamin D from the chemical or actinic effect of ultraviolet rays upon ergosterol in the skin, and this vitamin D is carried thru the circulation to the places where it is needed for maintaining good calcium-phosphorus metabolism which is essential for perfect health. (5) The formation of pigment, tan, which, apart from the vitamin D effect may be concerned in the natural healing processes especially as a mechanical barrier against bacteria in a short time, the creams, fats or dirt on the skin may interfere with this self-disinfectant action. (6) According to Leonard Hill, foremost English physiologist, exposure of the naked skin to infra-red rays produces reflex shrinking of nasal mucous membranes—opens the nose—while exposure to ordinary heat tends to make the nose close up. Open fire or radiant heaters give off infra-red rays.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Conch

One son, 6, has been subject to bronchitis and has had many attacks. Last spring he used the vitamin D nose drops which you suggested and the coughing and irritation disappeared and did not return. Thank you, (Mrs. B. J. D.)

Answer—The vitamin D inhalant or nose drops (vitamin D is bland oil solution) may or may not have cleared up the cough. I do recommend the use of three or four drops of it in the nose two or three times a day as a good remedy in the onset of nose infection with or without cough.

Hyperthyroidism
 Please tell me what would correct an overactive thyroid. Doctor who examined me said I have it. (Miss T. O. C.)

Answer—Open air rest treatment similar to that usually followed for cury tuberculosis. Plenty of calcium in diet—milk, cheese, eggs, peas, beans, greens—perhaps medicinal calcium as well—in some cases iodine ration.

Formaldehyde Antidote
 As student of osteopathy, in dissection course my eyes and nose much irritated by formaldehyde used to preserve bodies. Grateful for any suggestion to relieve irritation. (J. D.)

Answer—Diluted ammonia water counteracts or mitigates the effect. Keep a bottle of ammonia water on hand and keep a cloth wet with it near while you are dissecting. (Copyright, 1937.)

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, 265 E. Camino, South, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Your Birthday

"LIBRA"

If October 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are: from 11:45 A. M. to 1:45 P. M. from 2:45 to 4:45 P. M. and from 8:45 to 10:45 P. M. The danger periods are from 9:45 to 11:45 A. M. from 6:45 to 8:45 P. M. and from 10:45 P. M. until midnight.

Do not wear yourself out, trying to correct the faults of other people this day. Make allowance for a playful spirit's causing the average person to seem overly exuberant. Something you may hear will perhaps give you ample reason to believe that truth can be stranger than fiction. Remember you cannot dispute facts so if they are presented to you in proper sequence, even if you do not like them, accept them graciously. Do not be scanty with your praise, because it may make this day brighter for its recipient. It might be well for parents to recall that they were once young, and that recollection ought to make them indulgent with their children. Youth requires sympathetic understanding and encouragement this day. Married and engaged couples, and those who are hoping to enjoy the blessings of a great love, must have their faith in each other "founded upon a rock," impregnable to the assaults of doubt, the poison of scandalous tongues, and the "green-eyed monster"—jealousy.

If a woman and October 17 is your birthday, you probably have a world of patience, and a friendly, sympathetic nature. You ought to be a lover of nature, deriving your greatest pleasure from outdoors activities. Forests, fields and streams should give you relaxation and inspiration. With your knowledge perhaps will be the dynamic energy through which you will achieve some remarkable results.

suits. There are many indications that you might make an abundance of money, or come into possession of a small fortune. Through the sale of some food specialty, real estate, insurance, magazine articles, paintings, millinery or some form of publicity work you may become a financial success. A home and a husband, appears to be the medium for your receiving benefits and blessings.

The child born on October 17, is usually a jolly, rollicking youngster, with a lovable disposition. The child will be full of ambition and plenty of "pep" which will enable it to do things in a big way. If a man and October 17 is your natal day, you ought to have a delightful personality and be able to count on your friends, if they have evidence of your loyalty to them. In some commercial, theatrical, financial or artistic line of work, as well as through literary efforts, you may win an enviable reputation.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Don't worry so much. There's been a lot of talk about cities being wiped out by gas attacks in the "next war," but there's another side to that story. Authorities have computed for us that the cost of gassing all the population of a city or harassing it to the point of driving the residents out would be so great in terms of money, equipment and time that it would not be worth while as a military objective.

Hair-raising pictures have been painted by imaginative souls of the devastation which might be inflicted on a city by an attack of several hundred planes.

But it must be understood that planes cannot safely spray defended cities as they do weevil-infested cotton fields. The job must be done from altitudes of 6,000 to 2,000 feet. Anti-aircraft guns with modern automatic sights are so accurate that low-flying planes might be brought down like ducks over a swamp.

It Could Be Done

True enough, a cluster of planes dropping explosive bombs or gas bombs can raise Old Ned in spots. They can damage or temporarily paralyze individual factories or railroad yards. But the figures indicate that no one nation owns enough planes to paralyze a large city in a single assault provided there is any worthwhile defense. And any city worth devastating by an enemy likely would be well defended by the home troops of a first line nation like the United States.

Here are some of the factors which support such conclusions:

Field calculations call for 4,650 mustard gas bombs to provide an "effective" concentration of gas on a square mile in open country. Our authorities say double this amount would be required in cities where many bombs, striking on roofs, would be virtually wasted. The gas would fitter away in the sun and wind too high up to reach the populace.

Standard army bombing planes can carry 20 mustard gas bombs, so a fleet of 465 planes would be required to plaster a square mile of a city with mustard gas—if it was to be done all at once. The cost of these bombs alone, at $147 each, would be $150,381 square mile. Cost of planes to carry the bombs is not included in that figure. Any shot down—and some assuredly would be—would add to the cost. Calculate then the task of thus sousing New York with mustard gas. The city spreads over 320 square miles.

But It's Not Likely

Now mustard gas does not have to be put down all at once. It is a "persistent" gas that will remain effective from three days to a week, and longer in soft ground or in protected spots where wind and air may not reach it effectively.

Mustard gas actually is a sort of oily spray, lingering where it is dropped and blistering all wither, touch contaminated objects or come within range of its vapor. Because of its persistence, mustard gas can be laid down a patch at a time, so a single enemy air fleet could make repeated trips if it had a nearby base. But calculate the trips necessary to soak 320 square miles of New York at 46 planes loads a square mile.

Other gases are less persistent. Phosgene, ranked with mustard as one of the "successful" gases, loses its effectiveness in the air in 10 to 15 minutes, so if a city is to be wiped out with it, the whole job must be done in two or three minutes.

For gassing a city area with phosgene, 3,628 large bombs per square mile are estimated as necessary mile or 57,920 bombing planes to gas New York City's 320 miles. Probably there are more than that many bombers in the world.

And another thing, gas hugs the ground, so people in third story rooms are safe, and partly protected in the second story with windows closed.

CHINESE NO LIKEE

Los Angeles—(U. S. Steel framework of the clock tower of the new union railroad passenger terminal, rising 250 feet above the street, is a grim reminder to residents of Los Angeles' Chinatown that in a very short time they will be forced to seek new homes.

The Chinese district is being demolished to make way for progress—for what the Chamber of Commerce contends is one of the most important projects undertaken by Los Angeles in years.

But to Len Gee Low, patriarchal Chinese, who sits in the doorway of his tea shop puffing meditatively upon a long-stemmed pipe, it is not so good.

"Me clome Los Angeles long time ago," he says. "Steet here velly quiet—nobody bother Len Gee Low—all different now. Bang—bang—bang, all day. Just like war in China. Plenty too much noise."

reputation as a champion beeder should grow. After waiting him do a scene with Evelyn Baring for "City Hall Scandal" we lagged Bickford to hear some of Hollywood's most efficient grousing. Charlie will always oblige.

No stouter today than when he first came eight years ago—and he's a husky—the Bickford waistline drew comment. How'd he keep that way?

By being under contract, was the answer. "Each one picture and start another the same day work all the time. If they had you under contract you didn't have the right to a quitting time. But wait until he got where he wanted. If he did would he make 'em toe the mark, and would he drop everything at the 5 o'clock chime?"

"But I don't care," he said, departing. "Next year I'll be out of it I got a mine."

Shirley Temple Picture at Rio

Jean Hersholt Tops Supporting Cast as Grandfather of 'Heidi'

A Shirley Temple more glorious than anyone has ever known and a beloved story that has enthralled millions the world over arrived yesterday on the screen of the Rio Theatre for 5 days in the never-to-be-forgotten picture, "Heidi." Johanna Spyri's enchanting tale brought to such laughing, loving life that it touches the deepest corners of the heart.

Everywhere readers in all languages have been charmed by the warmth, tenderness and beauty of the Swiss Alps and all the colorful folk dwelling just under the stars, into whose lives "Heidi" brings tenderness and mirth and courage. An embittered mountain-top exile is reclaimed from his fierce hate of the world by the heroine, who brings him a new zest for life, and a young girl is given strength and the will to walk again in the story that has thrilled readers of every country.

Heading the cast is Jean Hersholt, famous veteran actor who gives his greatest characterization as the grandfather of "Heidi." A taciturn recluse dwelling high in the Alps, the character is the most difficult he has ever had to portray. Hersholt says, because the burden of the delineation is placed on physical mannerisms and attention to details of action and dress.

Arthur Treacher, as the comic butler in a rich Frankfurt home, is "Heidi's" sole defender in many dramatic scenes, and a sympathetic portrayal of "Blind Anna" is provided by Helen Westley.

Other leading roles in the story are played by Pauline Moore, Thomas Beck, Mary Nash, Sidney Blackmer, Mady Christians and Sig Ruman.

On a novel set depicting the colorful Zuyder Zee, Shirley and a large chorus enact an elaborate dance sequence, with special routines arranged by Sammy Lee. Shirley also sings the grand new novelty tune, "In Our Little Wooden Shoes."

The added feature on the current program is "Music For Madame" starring Nino Martini, and with a huge cast that includes Joan Fontaine, Alan Mowbray, and Eric Rhodes.

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood — It'll be "into the trenches by Christmas" for several Hollywood pairs if the feud-fosterers have their way.

There are several skirmishes capable of bursting out any minute now. Just read the "replacements" on current pictures. Marie Wilson was to have played "Boy Meets Girl" but the studio released Joan Blondell's suspension and called her back for the part. Anita Louise was to have been Maid Marian to Errol Flynn's Robin Hood but Olivia de Havilland became available in time. Things like that are hard to take, but don't necessarily lead to feuds — because it takes two to make a feud.

The other day, for instance, Olivia was being very friendly with Anita Louise. It Anita seemed a bit cold about it, it may have been the weather. (Hollywood's Indian summer.)

A Confidential Memo

It's nice to know that imagination isn't dead in Hollywood. Take these several items just received from the RKO publicity boys, neatly typed on one page: Ann Southern's granddaddy sends her a rare old brass bedwarmer, a baby cot arrives at Barbara Stanwyck's stables, Joe Penner is going to immortalize Joe-Goo's web-prints in the cement of his badminton court. Ann Shirley gets a 200-year-old tea set from a fan, etc.

And at the bottom of the sheet, this confidential memo to the publicity chief from the author: "All but the Southern item of this group is made up."

Skirts Are Always Long

The style designers of Hollywood are red in the face. They're embarrassed at the way women's skirts—in New York and Paris designs—are going up. And they can't do much about it either. They have to go on making trailing evening gowns for the stars, and to ignore what's going on in the other fashion worlds if they admit any other.

The reason, if one must be so rude as to inquire, is that so many of Hollywood's "best-dressed" stars lack the proper underpinning for the display of calves. Being stars, they must be protected, and the protection process involves fashioning long dresses also for the other girls who really have nice legs but must hide them for the sake of the stars they support.

W. C. Fields' hands are soft as Baby LeRoy's used to be—and by the way, what's happened to Baby LeRoy? . . .

George Hayes will never again accept a role on Friday the 13th.

Acquire Botanical Lore By Field Work and Books

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Have you ever come home from woods and fields with an armful of plant specimens, spread them out on your kitchen table and then wondered how you were ever to identify them all?

Clara Hussong

looked for in every part of the plant: flower, leaf, stem, bark, root and fruit.

The mint family, for instance, is characterized by square stems, but not every plant with a square stem is a mint. Many of the mints have aromatic leaves, some have not. In this family I find that the blossom is the best guide. The flower consists of a tube, the upper part two-lipped, short and arching, and the under part usually three-lipped, longer and spreading. Examine any mint from the tiny blue blossom of the ground ivy to the showy dragon-head and you will invariably find this arrangement. The wild mint is an exception to this rule. Both upper and lower parts of the corolla tube are two-lipped.

Each Time Easier

Which is the easiest method in gathering this botanical lore? I find that a combination of field work and reference reading is a pleasant easy way. Whenever I find a plant unknown to me I note its habitat carefully. The type of soil in which the plant grows and the kinds of plants growing near it are important. "A man is known by the company he keeps," holds the flowers too, especially if your reference book groups them according to habitat.

I examine the plant carefully for any tell-tale marks which suggest the plant families I am familiar with. Then I look through reference books for plants of that family until I find the right one. Many times I discard one family group for another and often I must peruse half a dozen books before I find the plant listed. This is especially true if the flower is small and obscure.

When I have definitely established the identity of my plant, I read again the characteristics of that family and examine my specimen to see in which ways it conforms with and in which ways it differs from the general characteristics of the family group. Each time I meet a new member of that family it is easier to classify it.

Had Tart Taste

Last Sunday my family and I accompanied a group of nature students on a field trip in Shawano county. Most of the group were pretty well "read up" on nature and a few had a definite branch of the subject in which they were authorities, so there were only a few questions left unanswered when we finished the study tour.

One of the plants, however, which baffled us was a tall shrub bearing blue-black berries. "June berry," guessed one of the group who must have known the earmarks of the rose family to which the June berry belongs. We tasted some of the berries but they were tart instead of flat and sugary as most June berries are.

The share of the leaf was somewhat different from that of the common June berry but leaf and fruit both convinced me that it was a June berry this shrub must be a close relative, and certainly a member of the rose family. Which of the June berries has a somewhat tart, juicy fruit that persists on the tree into autumn, was the question I must answer.

I took a spray of the shrub home and after much reading I discovered that instead of having only a single June berry, Wisconsin has seven or eight distinct species and dozens of hybrids. Some fruit later than the familiar sweet-berried one and some have fruit which persists on the tree until eaten by the birds. The one we found appears to be the Bartramian June berry, although in "Spring Flora of Wisconsin" Bassett limits it to the Lake Superior region. If not the Bartramian, perhaps it is a hybrid form closely resembling it.

Found Stinkhorn

The mild rains have brought out a profusion of mushrooms and other fungus growths. On the Shawano county trip we found such interesting species as the fly amanita, a poisonous variety, chicken mushrooms, indigo lactarius, and orange boletus. Some we identified on the spot and the rest I took home and grouped them according to the spore-bearing parts, that is whether they were furnished with gills, pores, or whether the pores were enclosed as in the puffballs and earth stars. After this classification, identification was easy.

One of the most interesting mushrooms was dictyophora, one of the stinkhorns. When it was first found it looked like a small cucumber emerging from an egg. After I brought it home I found it had grown several inches, the green of the top part had faded to grayish and now looked like a dull pickle attired in a lace frill. The next morning the stinkhorn had doubled in length, most of the length being accounted for by a long, white, porous stem.

The "egg" part is beginning to ooze with a foul-smelling slimy liquid. I've given all my visitors a whiff of it and the general opinion is that good, ripe hand cheese or rotting sauerkraut has nothing on the stinkhorn.

Claims Serum Aids in Overcoming Sterility

Dallas, Texas—Dr. M. Edward Davis, associate professor of obstetrics at the University of Chicago, said Friday extensive research has shown that intravenous injections of a serum obtained from the blood of mares with foal would enable many sterile women to bear children.

Dr. Davis will announce the results of his research tonight to the central association of obstetricians and gynecologists for research, which has accorded him its 1937 award.

"We are now able to announce that we can produce ovulation (the bursting of the egg cell which produces life when fertilized with the male germ) where it has been unknown before," he said. One of the frequent causes of female sterility is the absence of this function, he added.

Dr. Davis, who is 38 years old, won an award from the American Medical Association in 1935 for the discovery of "Ergonovine," a hemorrhage control.

Fairbanks, Jr., Is Cast as Human Fly

'When Thief Meets Thief' Will be Shown at Appleton Theater

"When Thief Meets Thief," the thrilling story of a "human fly" burglar, brings Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., to the Appleton Theater for three days beginning Thursday in his most romantic role to date.

This third offering of the recently-formed Criterion Film Productions, headed by Fairbanks, Jr., and Marcel Hellman, casts the personable young producer-star as Ricky Morgan, a young college man who drifts into the bootlegging racket with the brutal Jim Dial.

When a man is accidentally killed in a battle with Ricky, Dial convinces Ricky he is a murderer and forces him to commit a series of daring and sensational robberies for him.

Ricky escapes to England, where he meets Glory Howard, a beautiful adventuress. They fall in love. Unknown to Ricky, Glory's latest fix is really Jim Dial, now living grandly as Colonel Fane.

When Glory discovers his true identity, she marries him up to save Ricky. But Ricky catches up with his old enemy in one of the most breath-taking climaxes the screen has ever shown.

Lovely Valerie Hobson, who scored in a number of Hollywood hits, appears opposite Doug, Jr., as Glory, and the veteran Alan Hale plays Jim Dial.

Raoul Walsh, another Hollywood ace, directed "When Thief Meets Thief" from a screen play prepared by John Meehan from a novel by Gordon McConnell.

The film is released through United Artists.

Cites 3 Principles For Financing Relief

Chicago—Three principles to be followed by local communities in financing adequate relief of the indigent "without dire results" were laid before the American Municipal association Friday by Fred K. Hoehler, American Public Welfare association director.

"The first and foremost," Hoehler said, "is that relief must be completely and absolutely removed from political influence.

"The second principle involves the matter of financing relief directly from city funds. So far as possible, relief expenses should be met from current revenues rather than further increasing the debt of the city through bond issues or other such procedures.

"The third principle is that, in spite of our pride as citizens of local communities, we must, by facing the present situation, recognize the inability of local governments to carry the burden which has been thrown into their laps."

Governor Proclaims National Milk Week

Madison—Recognition of the great food value of milk was urged by Governor LaFollette Friday in a proclamation designating the period of Nov. 14 to 20 as National Milk week.

"Milk has an important place in the diet of every family in the nation," he said. "Young and old alike thrive on this contribution of the farm to human well-being. Particularly is this true in our own great dairy state where milk is also the key to agricultural stability and prosperity."

The governor listed "splendid dairy herds and grazing lands" as factors which have made Wisconsin the leading state in milk production.

"The 180,000 dairy farms of Wisconsin produced nearly 11 billion pounds of milk last year," he said.

Pioneer of Old West Buried at Washington

Washington—Funeral services were held Friday for Charles Marsh Sumner, who knew the old west at its best.

Sumner's 63 years of life reached back to the days of the Cripple Creek, Colo., and Goldfield, Nev., boom days.

He made and lost fortunes in mines, real estate and oil before coming to Washington in 1926 to settle down to a quiet life.

Born in Sheboygan, Wis., Sumner went west to Colorado as a child, "growing up" in Durango. He attended high school in Denver and the University of Colorado at Boulder.

'WIFE, DOCTOR AND NURSE' SHOWING

Drama with a twinkle in its eye and a catch in its heart for every wife whose husband works with other women; for every husband whose wife wonders about his absence; for every girl whose boss is handsome—and married—is found in "Wife, Doctor and Nurse," wise and witty Twentieth Century-Fox picture starring Loretta Young, Warner Baxter and Virginia Bruce, which opened Thursday at the Appleton Theater.

All that audiences ever loved in these three great stars are blended in the romantic drama of three modern people who know less than they think they do about the tricks love can play—the wife, modern, but not quite modern enough to share her husband—the doctor, who has two women in love with him and can't give up either one—and the nurse, so intimately a part of this man's life.

Also on this outstanding program is that great college football drama "Saturday's Heroes" starring Van Heflin and Marian Marsh.

'VARSITY SHOW' OPENS HERE FRIDAY

Boasting an extraordinary cast of stars, "Varsity Show," musical comedy extravaganza, comes to the Rio theatre next Friday. Headed by Dick Powell and Fred Waring with his internationally famous orchestra, the Pennsylvania, the troupe includes such leading figures as Ted Healy, Lee Dixon, Priscilla Lane, Buck and Bubbles, Walter Catlett, Johnny Davis, and Roy Atwill. The picture is said to mark a new high for its kind in the realm of entertainment.

Deny Missionaries In Far East Given Orders on Warfare

Vatican City—Assertions of private Vatican sources that instructions already have gone to missionaries in the Far East regarding their conduct in the Sino-Japanese war, were denied officially Friday by the Vatican semi-official news service.

"The news has been distributed in America and published under sensational headlines that the Vatican seeks to abet the fight against communism in Japanese favor," the news service added.

"Instructions to this effect are said to have been issued to representatives of the Holy See in the Far East. Both pieces of news are absolutely false and have been officially denied by Archbishop Giuseppe Pizzardo, (undersecretary for ecclesiastical affairs), Msgr. Tardini (undersecretary of state) and Archbishop Constantini (secretary of the congregation for the propagation of the faith.)"

'Blazing Sixes' Showing at Elite

Singing Dick Foran Plays Star Role in Western Thriller

"Blazing Sixes"—and that means six-guns pouring out their deadly contents as horsemen gallop and stage-coaches rumble along—is the thrilling western picture showing at the Elite theatre today and Sunday.

It's a Warner Bros. Western, starring that likeable six-footer Dick Foran, the singing cowboy. It has to do with how the government agents back in 1890 stopped the looting of stage-coaches carrying newly-minted gold coins from the Denver mint to the cities of Colorado.

Dick, naturally, is head man of the government lads (the G-men of their time), operating in disguise of an ordinary cowboy. The feminine and romantic interest of the picture is upheld by lovely Helen Valkis — making her screen debut.

In the midst of all his tracking and fighting, Dick finds appropriate moments in which to sing a couple of songs written for him by M. K. Jerome and Jack Scholl. "Ridin' On to Monterey" and "In a Little Prairie Town."

Victor Moore plays the role of Raymond's fidgety guardian, and "Miss Broderick" that of Miss Hilliard's agent, with Penner as the suitor and Parkyakarkus as the detective. Billy Gilbert as a temperamental orchestra leader, Franklin Panaborn, a his manager and Ann Miller are also cast.

Miss Hilliard sings "Roses In December," "Yankee Doodle Band," "So You Won't Sing" and "Let's Have Another Cigarette," with Raymond duetting with her in the latter two. Joe Penner sings the title song, and Jane Rhodes, the opening song, "Chasing a Little Ditty."

The added feature on this bill is "The Game That Kills," starring Charles Quigley. It is a romantic mystery dealing with the thrilling game of hockey and packs an unusual wallop.

Health Exhibit Shown at Manawa

Clinic Planned for Children at Grade School Saturday, Oct. 23

Manawa — Several hundred people, including both school children and adults, viewed the new traveling health exhibit of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association which visited Manawa, Wednesday. Lectures, motion pictures, and displays depicting the dangerous advance of tuberculosis throughout the state and nation made up the exhibit. Literature was also distributed.

Another child health clinic will be held in Manawa at the grade school building next Saturday afternoon, Oct. 23, according to Miss Estelle Jung, public health nurse of Waupaca county. Dr. R. K. Irvine will again be the examining physician and he will be assisted by Miss Jung and members of the local Woman's club.

Rudy Miller, former Manawa high school grid star, is playing a regular guard position with the Oshkosh State Teachers college football team this season. Rolland Handrich, another former Manawa high school student, now a freshman at the University of Wisconsin, has been selected a member of the student band and was one of 15 freshmen taken to Chicago with that organization for the football game last Saturday.

Estate of $13,000 Is Left by Appleton Man

Petition for administration in the estate of Herman Hoffmann, Appleton, has been made in county court. Personal property is listed at $3,000 and real estate at $10,000. Paulina Hoffmann, widow, route 3, Appleton, is the only heir.

Jack Hughes, who has just retired after 45 years as a Waterford (England) Football Club gateman, has never seen the team play.

Only the two centers are not provided with mounts. The other players must pass, shoot and dribble, if possible, from the backs of their mounts.

Players for the game will be chosen from two of the Twin Cities local unions. The animals will wear rubber boots over their hoofs and will be garbed in trunks to enable spectators to distinguish the two teams.

TEACHER HELPS YOUNG SPORTSMEN MAKE WOODEN DUCKS

Two Neenah High school boys and their instructor are shown above painting decoys to closely resemble live wild ducks in the manual training department at the high school. More than 100 decoys, some of which are shown above, have been made by young duck hunters this year and are currently being used to lure wild ducks into the range of their shotguns. Pictures above are, left to right, Donald C. Shepard, Jr., Armin Gerhardt, high school instructor, and Charles (Chuck) Shepard. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Young Hunters Use Leisure To Make Their Own Decoys

Neenah—High school boys who took advantage of their leisure time and facilities in the woodwork shop at the high school during the past month are now "reaping their reward."

More than a hundred decoys, closely resembling live wild ducks, have been made by a group of duck hunting-minded youths since school started, and the decoys are presently being used to lure wild ducks into the range of the young hunters' shotguns.

The boys worked after school in the manual arts department under the direction of Armin Gerhardt, and at night in their own improvised work shops to carve the decoys out of solid blocks of cedar. When carved to closely resemble the shape of wild ducks the young hunters paint the decoys to correspond with the colors of the wild game, so that when floating in water and partially hidden by weeds and marsh grass it is difficult to differentiate between the real article and the decoys.

Gerhardt said that besides saving themselves money by making their own decoys the young men, all of whom are conservationists, greatly enjoy the interesting hobby of woodworking. The decoys are made at a nominal sum. The cedar wood is obtained from old telephone poles and logs from railroad bridges. The decoys are hand-made and all the embryo sculptors have to purchase are ropes, snags, swivels, and eyes. These articles are inexpensive.

The shape of the decoy is obtained from cardboard forms already cut out. The decoys are shaped with band saws, spoke shaves, draw shaves, rasped and then sanded. Live game are used as models for painting. Weights are then attached to balance the decoys so that they will float properly.

Expect Kaukauna, Menasha to Play Close Game Friday

Caldermen Have Open Week; Stress Offense In Practice

Menasha — Past games between Menasha and Kaukauna high schools on the football field have resulted in close, hard fought tussles, and indications are that the meeting between the two schools Friday night under the lights at Butte des Morts field will be no exception.

In 1931 the Bluejays defeated the Kaws by a 7 to 6 score. The teams did not meet in 1932 and Menasha was again victorious the next year by a 7 to 0 score.

Only eight points were scored against Menasha during the entire 1934 season but those points were scored by Kaukauna. The Kaws won the game 8 to 0. Neither team was able to push over a touchdown in the 1935 game and the result was a scoreless tie. Last year each team scored one touchdown and converted on the extra point for a 7 to 7 tie.

In preparation for the Kaukauna game Coach N. A. Calder has been drilling his charges intensively on offense this week. With the advantages of no game for this week end while Kaukauna plays Shawano, the Bluejays hope to have an edge on the Kaws in physical condition. With four practice sessions left before the game, two will be devoted to offense and two to defense.

Based on comparative records this season the Kaws rank slight favorites. Menasha opened the season powerfully with a 31 to 0 victory over Clintonville but then ran into Tartars successively in the Milwaukee East Division, West DePere and New London games. Kaukauna was pushed around by Chilton in a pre-season practice but since then developed rapidly trouncing New London 22 to 7 the week before New London upset Menasha.

Menasha—Robert, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Peck, 820 First street, Menasha, today is mourning the loss of his two pet white rabbits which burned to death when their coop caught on fire at 9:30 Friday night.

The boy who will be 10 years old in January had taken good care of his two large pets. After school Friday he had returned home and fed his fuzzy playmates with sugar beets he had cut up. After getting the rabbits ready for bed Robert went in the house and a few hours later learned of their death.

October Authors

SIGRID UNDET

The promise of greatness revealed by this fine writer in "Kristin Lavransdatter" and "Gunnar's Daughter" is renewed in her latest work, "The Faithful Wife." Unlike most of her novels, this new one is about moderns—a childless husband and wife.

LOUIS BROMFIELD

The author of some of America's most successful novels returns to the literary scene with "The Rains Came," a story of how disaster changed the lives of a weirdly assorted group of people in India. It's certain to be a best seller.

J. B. RHINE

Seven years ago Dr. Rhine set to work in his laboratory at Duke University to find out whether human beings could learn anything through the "sixth sense." "New Frontiers of the Mind" is the result. Book-of-the-Month club selection for October.

SUSAN ERTZ

A great woman story teller turns her attention and pen to the tragic story of Baltimore's Betty Patterson, who married Jerome Bonaparte. Napoleon's younger brother, "No Hearts To Break" is brilliant, colorful and likely to be enormously popular.

Jobbers Testify On Contracts in Price Fixing Case

Indictment Being Tried in Federal Court in Re-cess Until Monday

Madison—(AP)—Testimony regarding jobbers' contracts with major oil companies occupied the second week of the federal government's gasoline price-fixing case, which was in recess today until Monday.

The government alleges that the general use of contracts basing prices upon quotations published in the Chicago Journal of Commerce and the Tulsa edition of Platt's Oilgram provided the foundation for a conspiracy to raise and fix gasoline prices in 10 midwestern states during 1935 and 1936.

Twenty-three major oil companies, three trade publications and 46 executives are charged with being implicated in the alleged conspiracy.

In the indictment being tried in federal court here the oil companies are accused of having engaged in a program of buying small quantities of gasoline at artificially high prices, and the trade publications are charged with knowingly quoting such prices as "ruling prices," thus raising the cost to jobbers.

Admitted in Evidence
W. J. Miller of the federal bureau of investigation, testified yesterday that most of the jobber contracts written by the major companies in those two years based prices on these quotations. Specimen contracts and tabulations submitted by the companies in response to court orders were admitted in evidence.

Miller was preceded to the stand by William O'Brien, of Superior, Wis., and M. H. Teige, of Stoughton, Wis.

O'Brien and Teige concluded a procession of 15 jobbers whose testimony this week confirmed the government's contention that the major oil companies' contracts during the period of the alleged conspiracy were uniform in that they contained the same two types of price clauses. The jobbers said quotation in one or both of the publications were the bases for prices, and that the prices were subject to a clause providing a margin usually of 5 cents between the jobbers' price and the cost to the motorist.

Allan Kerr

While helping to usher in the duck hunting season last weekend, there was plenty of time between dawn and 7 o'clock in the morning to do a little reminiscing about duck hunting trips of other days.

Days when the old retriever was kept busier and had no short working day as he has now. Days when he could legally fetch to his hunting master many more ducks than would be within the law under present restrictions, and of many more varieties.

And as we thought of these hunting trips of years ago, the reason, in part at least, for the present strict regulations of wild-fowl hunting also came to mind.

Dimly outlined through the mist and rain, rain which trickled down inside our hunting coat collar and that formed glistening globules on the curly coat of the spaniel at our feet, could be seen the tall stack of a steam plant used for the generating of electric power.

Some distance beyond, a railroad shop chimney belched clouds of black smoke. Like huge tombstones, marking the graves of sloughs and pot-holes that were perfect water fowl breeding grounds of days gone by, rose numerous gas and oil storage tanks. Most of these operations are located on reclaimed marshlands, the scene of many a happy boyhood outing with a faithful dog companion and an old single-barreled shot-gun of doubtful shooting qualities.

Inde Says Group Differs on WAA

Denies Endorsement by Wisconsin Council of Agriculture

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—Herman Inde, Neenah, head of the Wisconsin State Grange and president of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, a federation of state farm organizations, said here yesterday that he believes there is "a difference of opinion" among the membership of the council on the Wisconsin Agricultural authority, recently created by the Wisconsin legislature, and now awaiting certain signing by Governor LaFollette.

Inde denied published statements that the governor had obtained the endorsement of the council when he proposed the measure to the state legislature, and said that officers or the executive committee of his group has never formally considered the proposition.

He predicted that the matter would be discussed at the council's annual convention at Green Bay next week.

Inde said that he himself is satisfied that the bill is a satisfactory one, adding "I am willing to go along on it." But he was not speaking for his organization, he pointed out.

DEFEATISTS FOUGHT

Police of Tokyo, Japan, have adopted the military code and its severe penalties in dealing with "defeatists" who spread false reports relating to the war.

From the outset of hostilities "vicious rumors" have been circulated concerning what is going on in China. To stop the flow of propaganda from outside Japan, the higher special service section of the police board in Tokyo is cooperating with the foreign mail section of the Communications Ministry and with customs officials in intercepting anti-Japanese literature sent from China. The names of Japanese who have evacuated Chinese towns are being used by the Blue Shirts, the Chinese Communist Party, and other organizations in slipping into Japan books and pamphlets of a defeatist character.

Margaret Kennedy's Latest Book Not Up to Harper Prize Winner

By Jean Wiley Thickens

BOOK REVIEW

"TOGETHER AND APART" by Margaret Kennedy.

A few years ago Margaret Kennedy won the much coveted Harper prize award for her novel "The Constant Nymph." Probably there is nothing more unfortunate for a novelist than to have his or her first book an instant success. He is then prone to rest upon his laurels instead of endeavoring to outdo his first triumph. Since then Margaret Kennedy has turned out several novels which are little better than pot-boilers. Her latest book "Together and Apart" is somewhat above that lowly standard but it far below the level of her prize novel. It completely lacks its spontaneity and originality. It is just another story of marital discord with the three adolescent children as the real victims of the divorce, which inevitably follows the husband's infidelity. The author has the ability to create most convincing characters but unfortunately none of them in "Forever and Apart" with perhaps one exception—seem to be admirable ones. There is a patina of disillusioned bitterness over the entire story which leaves the reader with a bad taste in his mouth. The book ends with few of the problems solved and the plot more or less at loose ends.

Alec Canning is an English Cole Porter who writes successful lyrics for his friend John Graham's musical comedies, Johnny supplying the clever lines and stage settings. Each is dependent upon the other for his success. For some time Betsy Canning has been aware that her husband is carrying on a clandestine affair with the wealthy wife of one of Alec's associates. However, until her cousin Lord St. Mullins persuades her that she would be much happier married to a rich lord than to an unfaithful musician (even the latter is the father of her three children) Betsy has done little about the affair except to harbor resentment and adopt a martyr complex, which does not agree with her complexion. By the time the divorce has become final Alec has wearied of his inamorata and become entangled with Joy, a niece of Betsy's whom the Canning family has befriended. Joy is beautiful but extremely dumb but Alec does not discover the regrettable fact in his first fine frenzy. He drifts into the liaison which eventually in marriage and a most unwelcome offspring. The Canning children feeling themselves deserted by both parents (in the meantime Betsy has married Lord St. Mullins) get out of hand and cause various complications. It is the type of book from which the reader derives neither inspiration nor excitement though it holds the reader's attention to its final unsatisfactory chapter. Skit it unless you can't find something better.

WICHMANN Furniture Company

the dark ships BY HULBERT FOOTNER

SYNOPSIS: Wealthy, flashy Prescott Fanning kidnaps Janet, a Baltimore girl, aboard his yacht. She gets word to Neil, a young federal agent who loves her. Rushing to Absalom's Harbor, he boards the yacht and finds, in a locked cabin, Fanning shot dead and Janet in a faint, a gun beside her. Neil hides her in the disused liners up the river. Back at the village he resumes his fisherman role to watch developments. Mark Bonniger, a keen local man, is called in to lead the murder investigation. Kettering, a Baltimore lawyer there to fish, offers to introduce Neil.

Chapter 17

EXYSTER BECKONS

BONNIGER, Wilson and Virgil were now on the store porch. Kettering hailed Bonniger with his customary heartiness, and brought up Neil to be introduced. Bonniger shook hands with Neil courteously, but let it be seen that he had other things on his mind. "I reckon this will spoil the fishing," said Kettering humorously, "but of course we've got to hold up the law's hands at such a time. If there's anything I can do, Bonniger, call on me."

"Thank you," said Bonniger dryly. "I may be glad of a little legal advice."

"Always at your service," said Kettering.

A thought struck Bonniger. "Look, Kettering--the dead man was known to his crew as John Barrett of New York. But he boarded his yacht in Baltimore night before last, and I've an idea he may belong there. You have a wide acquaintance in Baltimore. Come have a look at him."

They crossed the road and entered the shed. Neil managed to slip in before the door was closed. Fanning's body lay on a trestle with a sheet pulled over it. Already there was a smell of dead in the place. Virgil took the edge of the sheet between thumb and finger and gingerly pulled it down. The dead man's face was composed now. A lock of hair concealed the hole in his forehead.

"Good God! It's Prescott Fanning," cried Kettering. "I didn't know he had a yacht!"

"What do you know about him?"

"Only what everybody knows," said Kettering. He related it.

"From New York?" said Bonniger. "We must put out lines there. The rest is only Baltimore gossip. Can't you give me something particular about the man?"

Kettering shook his head. "I didn't know him at all. I saw him everywhere, but I haven't spoken to him above three times, and then only to pass the time of day."

"Well, we have established his name. That's a beginning," said Bonniger. "I'll have inquiries made in Baltimore and New York."

They returned to the store with Neil tagging along. Bonniger disappeared into the back office to telephone, and Virgil went behind the counter to wait on Kettering. Neil hung about at the back of the store until Bonniger appeared again. He had decided to make a bold play.

"Can I speak to you for a moment," he asked.

Bonniger gave him a keen look. He was not a man that you could fool with. "Have you information to give me about this case?"

Neil faced him out, grinning. "Yes and no," he said. "I want to offer you my services."

"In what capacity?"

"I was introduced to you just now as Ford Wheatley. My right name is Neil Tryon and I'm a member of the treasury department's narcotics squad." He produced his credentials.

Bonniger read them and handed them back. "It's a good work you between thumb and finger and gin-

Calamities Caused by Greed at Bridge Table

BY ELY CULBERTSON

I wonder how many calamities at the bridge table must be laid at the door of greed? Time and again I have seen players refuse a trick for no other reason than that they were dissatisfied with the rank of the card offered to them. In other words, they refused to waste their lordly ace on a lowly nine spot, quite overlooking the fact that such refusal might eventually put them in a deep, black hole. Conversely, when a king is dangled before their acquisitive eyes, they cannot resist falling upon such a juicy morsel. Consider West's greed in the following hand:

GOOD TASTE TODAY

BY EMILY POST

WHEN INVITED TO DINE

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just accepted an invitation to dine at the house of a new friend who is taking her dinner party to the summer stock theatre afterwards. I live only two blocks away from her house and can easily walk to dinner, but I'm a little worried as to what arrangement I am expected to make for getting to the theatre, which is five miles out of town.

Answer: You will not be expected to make any arrangement further than to arrive at the house of your hostess at the hour of dinner. The fact that she has invited you to dine and go with her to the theatre afterwards makes it her obligation to see that all her dinner guests have, or are provided with, the means of getting to the theatre and to their homes afterwards. She will either take you in her own car, or arrange beforehand to have you and any other guests who have no cars go with those who have.

Dear Mrs. Post: Please settle the question of whether it is proper or not for a group of let's say fifteen women alone to gather at a hotel, having engaged a private dining room, in evening dress? It seems utterly ridiculous to me for any one to say that it was not proper, yet each and every time I try to promote a dinner of this type, some of the members think that the absence of men does not permit our wearing evening clothes. Why in the world would men have anything to do with the type of clothes we may choose?

Answer: I don't know how people feel in other communities, but in New York, for example, dinners of women alone are in every particular table setting, food, and women's dresses—exactly the same whether men are present or not.

Dear Mrs. Post: A man and his wife whom we met during my husband's vacation at a summer hotel—an older couple—asked us to dinner soon after we got back in town. We couldn't go because we had accepted another invitation for the evening. This occurred over a month ago and to date we have not invited them back and I'm afraid there is no reason except a lack of mutual interests not only between them and ourselves, but they and our own friends would not have anything at all in common. But I wouldn't want to be rude or have them consider our inhospitableness in the light of a social slap. My husband says I am worrying about nothing and that it would be much worse to pretend to build up a friendship, which has no real material to build it with, than to let it stay in acquaintance.

Answer: Unless you really find them congenial, then it seems to me that your husband is right. Friendship with a stranger can't be built on four of hating the feelings of that stranger. This however does not mean that you are to be rude. You should have paid your party call, and your manner should be friendly when you meet.

A Little Saturday Talk

Next week I plan to tell about several "perpetual motion" machines, but today I want to tell about one I "invented" during my boyhood. I was 13 years old at the time, and I believed I had figured out a great thing.

Someone had told me about efforts to make perpetual motion machines, and had said they all had failed. That set me to thinking of how I might make a wheel go around and around without any power driving it.

Suddenly an idea flashed across my mind. I would make a wheel with hollow tubes in it, and in each I would place an iron ball. When I gave it a little start, the balls on the right side would run down the tubes, and weigh the ends down. At the same time the balls on the left side would move toward the center of the wheel, and would be "outweighed" by those on the other side.

The result, I supposed, would be that the wheel would keep turning around forever. I kept thinking of what a wonderful invention it would be, and of the great riches which would come after I obtained a patent.

What would I do with all my money? Some of it, I intended to use to make my father and mother and brothers and sisters happy. Some of it would be spent to buy books, and some to pay the cost of far travel. There were friends, too, who could make good use of money, and I would give some to them.

Spike Heels Harmful to Young Girls

BY ELSIE PIERCE

Mother: You are right in feeling that spike heels are not only unnecessary but actually may be harmful to a young girl of fourteen. Long curls and high heels aren't such an unusual sight . . . young adolescents cannot wait to grow up, actually feel grown up, in fact, long before they really are and it is quite common for a young girl your daughter's age to want spike heels. Occasionally for special party wear they may be permissible, but certainly not for every day wear to school. High heels may weaken the ankle, may affect posture causing a deep hollow in the back and protruding abdomen. One way to discourage your daughter's wearing high heels is by pointing out all the smart grown-ups who prefer sturdy low heels for general wear.

Reducing Splitting Nails

S. V. P.: You say "Just what are all the ills that can be traceable to a too sudden and too drastic reducing diet. Would dry skin, sagging contour, splitting nails, dry hair all be the result of such a diet?"

It is difficult to tell without further information whether the reducing regime itself is the direct result of any or all these conditions, but a drastic, sudden depletion of certain food elements might indeed result in any or all the things you mention. Take fat, butter, milk and milk products from the diet and you deplete the natural oil in skin and hair. Brittle splitting nails may be due to a deficiency in the diet. Sagging contour often results from too sudden reduction. I think of the skin as an elastic covering stretched to accommodate the underlying layers of fat. The fat is suddenly reduced and the skin having lost some of its elasticity droops or forms folds and wrinkles. These ills are the least of the woes of an irrational reducing regime. Definite internal injury often comes from such a course. The sane, gradual reducing combination of diet and exercise remains the safest.

My complete new booklet "Reduce by Diet" (Booklet 201 and "Reduce by Exercise" (Booklet 202) are yours for ten cents each. They cover the subjects thoroughly. Send for them giving your name and full address to the Bell Library, care of this newspaper, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y. (Copyright, 1937.)

Girls Should be Able to Earn Own Bread, Butter

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—We have a daughter of 20 who has had two years in college. She is engaged to a nice young man, but he is not now in a financial condition to marry and it will be at least two or three years before he can afford to marry. We are anxious for our daughter to finish her college course, or take a business course, but her fiance strongly objects to her doing either one, as he says he will never consent to his wife working after they are married. That is all right, but my husband and I both think that every girl should be taught some way of making a living, whether she follows it or not after marriage. Is it fair for the young man to take the position he does, and should my daughter give in to him?

Answer: The young man is not only very unreasonable in the position he takes, but his views on it are so antiquated that they seem to have come out of a trunk in the attic. Nowadays rich people as well as poor people can earn their own bread and butter, because it is the best protection they can give them against the rainy day that possibly may come to any one.

It is hard to see how any one can be so narrow and bigoted and prejudiced as to fail to see the wisdom of this. Nor can one see what objection can be raised to it. Fortunes fail and the father who expected to leave his daughter wealthy often leaves her penniless instead. The rich husband of a girl who marries may fail in business, or become an invalid, or die, leaving her no money and a houseful of children. Who, then, so helpless as the girl who has not been taught any gainful occupation, who has never made a dollar, who has no business experience and who finds it impossible to compete with women who are expert in some line of work?

You would think that any man in the world would be glad to know that his daughter or his wife would never experience this tragic fate, that she could stand on her own feet and support herself if the necessity arose.

It is a fine thing for a man to want to support his family and stand between his wife and the world and keep her soft within the circle of the home. It is the way things should be, because being a good wife and mother and a good housekeeper and manager is the woman's end of a marriage, and it involves all the work that any one woman should be expected to do. Besides, it leaves the jobs open for unmarried women. Even if the wife never has to use her knowledge, it gives her poise and self-respect to know that she could make a living if she had to.

Your daughter will be very foolish if she gives in to her young man's silly objection to her taking a business course. It will give her something to do to fill in her time while she is waiting for him, instead of sitting at home and sucking her thumb. And it will give her something to fall back on if he falls out of love with her, or if she loses her taste for him. A lot of things can happen to young people in two years that change all of their plans. So my earnest advice to you is to insist on your daughter going ahead and learning to be a crack-jack, secretary, or whatever the case may be. And if the young man breaks off the engagement because of this, she will be lucky enough to have missed marrying a man who would have made a tyrannical and overbearing husband.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a girl of 19. I don't want to go to wild parties, or do anything that I shouldn't do. I do long to have a good time like other young people have, but my parents won't let me. They won't let me entertain any young people in my home, or go to their homes. They won't let me have dances. They won't let me have a date with a boy. All I can do is to work and give my pay envelope to my mother and sit at home with my parents. I don't want to do anything wrong, or go with fast boys. I only want a little clean pleasure.

UNHAPPY GIRL.

Answer: I get thousands of pathetic letters like this one from girls whose parents deny them all the pleasure that belongs to their time of life. A thousand times I have begged these cruel fathers and mothers to try to remember their own youth and how avid they were for the society of other boys and girls and for fun. I beg them to have a little sympathy and understanding of their own children and to do what it is easy to give them happiness instead of keeping it to themselves.

Whether my entire life is miserable and mothers to have a heart, and their girls are concerned more of any effect, I do not know, but I hope, at least, it has made some mother open her door and welcome her crowd in and take them a cake and hustle father out of the living room and turn on the radio when they wanted to argue. And that it has made some father welcome his boy's friend and send them off on their date with "have a good time" instead of making his daughter sneak out to meet a peck-up at the corner drug store.

I can only hope and pray it has, and say it all over again. For youth is so short. It is such a little time that one can dance and sing and make merry without a caring care to take the edge off of one's enjoyment. It is such a little while that one can be thrilled to the marrow of one's bones over a cheap new dress, or going to a party, or having a date with a freckled lad who is just Sammy Jones to everybody else, but is Clark Gable to you. It is only once in a lifetime that a hamburger sandwich and an ice cream soda are the food of the gods. How cruel, then, to deprive a girl of her youth! How brutal to dash from her lips her one drink of nectar, her one taste of ambrosia!

Of course, the parents who keep their daughters under lock and key at home and deprive them of all the pleasures of youth justify themselves by saying they are doing it to protect them. Instead of doing that, they are taking away from them all of the protection that it is possible for a girl to have in these days, and that is the protection that the background of a home and of fathers and mothers who know whom their daughters go with and what they are doing affords.

For girls will be girls. They will have fun. They will have dates. And, if they cannot do what the other girls are doing frankly and openly, they will do it on the sly. If boys cannot come to the house, girls pick them up on the streets. If they cannot have dates with nice boys, they have them with the other kind. If they cannot go to respectable parties, they go to dance halls. And these are things that parents should remember. The quickest way to make a girl bolt is to drive her with too tight a rein. ## Old Gardener Says:

BY E. J. FARRINGTON

The amaryllis is the most brilliant of the bulbs which can be successfully grown indoors. The bulbs can be obtained at the seed store now. They are best started in moss, which should be kept somewhat moist. The container should be set in a warm room or a greenhouse. When growth starts, the bulbs should be transferred to six-inch pots, using any good garden soil. It is important that about two-thirds of the bulb be above the soil, and the surface of the soil should be half an inch below the sides of the pot so that water can be applied without loss. Only a little water will be needed at first, but as growth increases, the amount of water must also be increased.

Many People Bound by Laws Imposed on Self

BY ANGELO PATRI

The saddest bondage in this world is the self-imposed sort brought on by making laws for oneself. Most of the time this is done without the sufferer's knowledge. He does it to himself, not intentionally, but in order to prove to others that he is different, therefore worthy of their attention and admiration.

"I hate riding in motor cars," said the lady who felt she must have something distinctive to say. At once the group of listeners were at attention. Not ride in motor cars? Why everybody rode in motor cars. How could one get about otherwise? And why? So peculiar.

"I can't help it. I simply can't abide cars, and I never ride in them." This was said without premeditation, but once pronounced, faces began to demand that it stand. And it did bring attention. But the attention passed with the last game of bridge that afternoon, and from then on for a long long time this poor lady suffered the inconvenience of her announced hate and fear. To her great discomfort she found that her law had fastened itself upon her and she could not ride in motor cars even when she wished to do so, needed to do so.

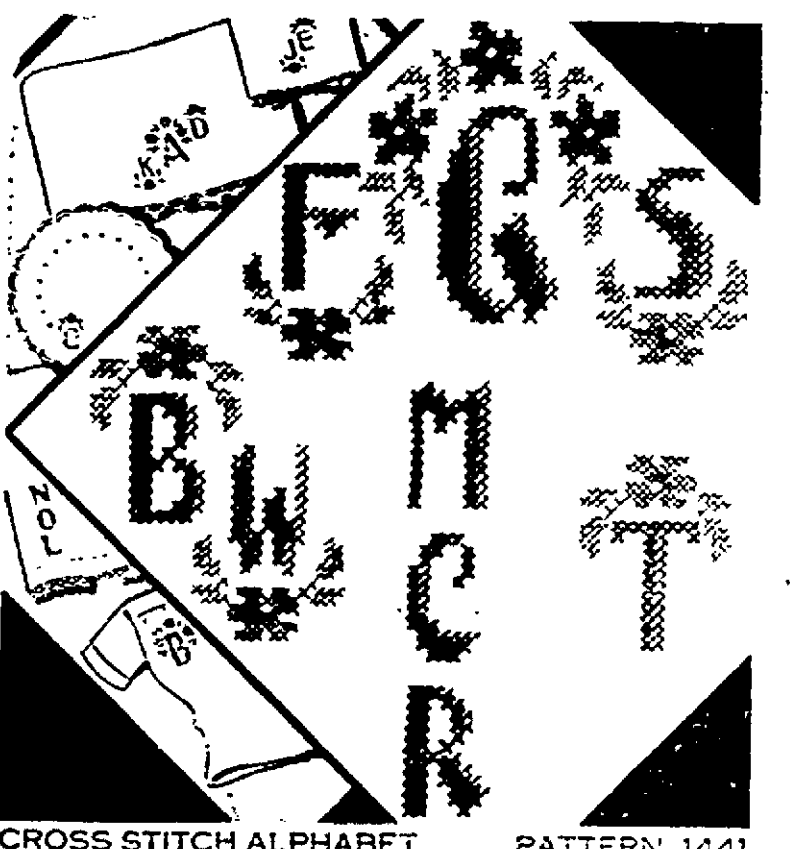

"No, I never eat meat. I don't believe in it. No, not because it isn't good for me, but because I'm against it on principle." The difficulty about that was that the speaker had only that moment thought out that principle. Eating meat had never bothered him. Now he found that he wanted to eat meat and had a mental conflict to face every mealtime.

bound themselves in fetters not easy to break.

Hate, or its paler sister, dislike, are not good spirits to cultivate. Their effect on the souls of men are always bad. They kill the generous expansion of the mind and so limit its horizon until, as they meet their deadly work, it narrows to a dimension that choke it. Hate is deadly to the hater, and dislike carries to extremes becomes hate.

True, a man must choose between what he likes and what he does not like, but he is not obliged to nurse his dislike within his bosom until it becomes a burning sore that con-

Modern Artists Try to Give Impression, Club Told

COLOR, horizontal lines, uncarved surfaces, unusual woods and an impression of light are some of the characteristics of modern art, Mrs. Gertrude Fentnor brought out in a talk before Appleton Delphian club Friday afternoon at Appleton woman's club. Speaking on "Some Sources of Our Modern Ideas," Mrs. Fentnor showed the group some examples of modern painting by such originators of the modern idea as Monet, Van Gogh, Cezanne, Gauguin, Picasso, Rockwell Kent, Diego Rivera and Grand Wood, showing how they used color, stressed feeling more than line and sought to give an impression rather than a photographic likeness.

Horizontal lines came into use probably as a reaction to the vertical idea made necessary in such places as New York where there was no room to expand sideways and therefore everything had to go up, said Mrs. Fentnor, giving as examples the skyscrapers.

In modern furniture, the speaker said, the tendency is toward unusual woods, uncarved and without a high polish. She showed some of the new ideas in wall paper which include large patterns, soft colors and tones, and a return to the use of borders. There is a tendency to mix period and modern furniture, Mrs. Fentnor pointed out, adding that the idea that things should match has died out. She closed her talk with a discussion of fabrics and showed the women a large collection of damask, brocade, chintz and other fabrics being used today.

Mrs. Fentnor was introduced by Mrs. F. J. Grist. A short business meeting was held before the program at which time plans were made for the next meeting on Nov. 5 when the club will go to the home of Mrs. C. G. Eubank, 313 Twelfth street, Neenah, for a musical program. The group decided to hold a Dutch treat luncheon at the Columns tea room in Neenah before the meeting.

SOME of the nation's dramatic moments will be reenacted by Miss Mary Waterstreet, model-actress, when she appears in a sketch entitled "First Ladies of the Land" next Thursday evening at Appleton High school auditorium under the auspices of Appleton Woman's club.

Miss Waterstreet's sketch of Martha Washington brings out the fact that this "first lady" believed that if a woman looked after her home as she should, there was no time left for "outside interests" except helping the needy. Popular Dolly Madison escaped from the first White House with the Declaration of Independence as a young man named Francis Scott Key wrote the "Star Spangled Banner," and Dolly's diplomacy is often credited with bringing about her husband's reelection. The shadow of her life was a wastrel son who, in the end, was the cause of her selling her home, Montpelier, to pay his debts. The wonders of the new inven-

Can't Rid World Of Anarchy With War, Senator Says

Wheeler Won't Vote to Send Americans to Fight In Orient or Europe

Milwaukee — (U. —) The United States can not rid the world of "international anarchy" by going to war, United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.), told an audience here last night.

"We would come out of war with more anarchy in the world than we have now," he said. "As long as I'm in the senate of the United States I'll never vote to send an American boy to fight with either in the Orient or in Europe."

Criticizing several agencies fostered or introduced by the New Deal, Senator Wheeler referred to a "mess" which he said was created at Washington by "young lawyers from Harvard and Columbia law schools who have never practiced law and never heard of Wisconsin or Montana except in a geography book."

Assaults Court Foes

He said "recently put all sorts of pressure on congressmen and senators, through labor and farm organizations, to line them up in an attempt to make the Supreme Court of the United States subservient to one man. And they did this in the name of liberalism and progressivism."

The Montana senator declared that the NRA was "hatched by that great 'liberal' organization, the United States Chamber of Commerce," and that he "was against it because I know industry couldn't be controlled in the way it contemplated without calling out the army and navy. Under the NRA we delegated to the great corporations the power to legislate, to fix prices. And we did that in the name of liberalism and progressivism."

Senator Wheeler said the "RFC was passed not for the farmers, the laborers and the home-owners, but because the presidents of the great banks, insurance companies and railroads came down to Washington and begged on their knees for money. I knew at the time there was nothing in the RFC that would bring prosperity back to this country," he asserted.

Two Rivers Opposes Reds Here Tomorrow

J. Block, Resch Lost to Locals Because Of Hurts

TEAM IS CONFIDENT

Squad Invited to Play In Benefit at Marinette

APPLETON Reds football team will go after its second victory over Two Rivers at 2:15 Sunday afternoon at the W. Spencer street athletic field. Last week the Reds defeated Kaukauna by a 40 to 0 score and feel they have one of the best teams in several seasons. They'll go into tomorrow's game minus two regulars, however, Resch being out with a bad knee and John Block with a torn ligament. The latter injury was suffered in practice.

The Two Rivers team is composed of former high school players from Green Bay, Manitowish, Two Rivers and Sheboygan and has a season's record of two wins, one tie and one defeat. The lineup shows J. Muski, K. Koch, J. Rehner and K. U. U. right ends, H. Chyehauski, J. Dahm, J. Breider, tackles, P. Petroski, J. Valinski, C. Emerson, guards, J. Verty, J. Gross, R. Olson, centers, B. Prucha, Bob Pries, Becker, Welton, halfbacks and B. Blotter and Woody Greenwood, fullbacks.

Red's Lineup

The Reds are expected to start Palmbach at one end and Len Brach of high school fame at the other. Marx and Jansen appear slated for the tackle positions with Don Green and Casper, who paired in high school, working at the guard. Eggert will toss the ball from the center position.

In the backfield Fritz Block will call plays from the quarter position with Struntz at one half and Reider at the other. Johnny Clark draws the fullback assignment. Last week's game featured long runs by Reider.

Two Rivers is reported to have improved greatly since it bowed to the Reds, 13 to 0, in the first game of the season. It defeated Sheboygan and Sheboygan Falls and held Manitowish to a scoreless tie. Appleton defeated Manitowish by a single point.

The Reds have announced that they have been selected to play the Marinette Marines in a charity game Thursday night at Marinette for the Lions club blind fund. Next Sunday, Oct. 24, the Reds will go to Manitowish.

Hope Owens' Record Will Get Approval

Indianapolis—(AP)—Paul R. Jordan, chairman of the Amateur Athletic Union records committee, expressed hope today the committee would approve in Boston Nov. 13 a new 100-meter dash record of 10.2 seconds, made by Jesse Owens at Chicago in June, 1936.

The committee rejected Owens' mark a year ago on the grounds that the course was approximately three-fifths of an inch short.

Jordan said he had received a letter from T. N. Metcalf, athletics director for the University of Chicago, and E. M. Johnson, university surveyor saying, "we feel quite justified in certifying that the course, as run, was 100 meters in length."

WESTERN DIVISION

BY BILL DOWLING
KAUKAUNA—A fighting Kaukauna high school eleven went down to a 19 to 6 defeat yesterday afternoon at West DePere, due largely to the masterful running of Connie Berken, star Phantom back. Kaw hopes, which ran high when, after DePere had kicked off, the Kaws swept to a touchdown in seven plays, were still entertained after Connie Berken swept around end for the tying tally on West DePere's first play, but gradually faded as the Black Phantoms added further scores in the second and fourth quarters. The first two DePere tries for extra point failed with the last, a line plunge, being good.

The Kaws received the opening kickoff on their own 22. Peterson returning it five yards to the 27. Watson and Peterson each made one, and on the next play Peterson broke through the DePere line, smartly dodged the DePere backfield, and set out for the goal line. His lead of several steps over Berken proved no handicap to that speed merchant, who overtook Peterson and brought him to earth on the DePere 10, after Bill had reeled off a 66 yard gain. Peterson then made one, Kobussen crashed through center for six, added one more, and on fourth down squeezed over center for the score. Watson's attempted dropkick was wide.

Berken Evens Score
Kaukauna's margin was of short duration. The large crowd, stilled by the quick Kaw score, leaped to its feet as Berken took the ball on the first DePere play on his 41 yard line, to where DePere had returned Kaukauna's kickoff and bruised his way down the sideline for 59 yards and a touchdown. Berken's kick for point was low, leaving the score knotted at 6-6.

Neither team rang up a first down from then on until late in the second quarter when the Phantoms reeled off two and their second touchdown. Vaessen returned one of Peterson's punts to his own 43. On the first play Berken ran around right end for eight. Vaessen

TWO WILL PLAY TOMORROW, ONE WILL WATCH

The three young fellows above, members of the St. John, Little Chute, football team weren't practicing for a Tarzan movie when this picture was taken several weeks ago, they were just doing their daily exercises. Tomorrow two of them will play against St. Mary's of Menasha in a Catholic conference game while the third will watch from the sidelines because of a recent broken leg. Bob Siebers, left, an end, will get into the ball game as will "Sport" Van Dyke, right, also an end. Henry Van Grinsven, in the center, is the youth who'll be on the sidelines because of a broken leg suffered in practice. (Post-Crescent Photo.)

Kaw Catholic "11" Defeats St. Mary's Of Appleton, 38-0

Electric City Team's Victory Highlight of Homecoming

KAUKAUNA—St. Mary's of Kaukauna crowned its homecoming celebration with a 38 to 0 football victory over St. Mary's of Appleton at the Kaukauna high school field yesterday afternoon. The Kaukauna team held a previous decision this year over Appleton.

Kaukauna took the lead at the start when Ranquette ran 65 yards for the first score and were never in danger afterwards, the Appleton eleven being constantly on defense against the long Kaukauna runs. Besides his first period effort Ranquette added two more touchdowns later, as the Kaws scored in every quarter. His second touchdown came from a 43 yard gallop and his third on a short plunge through the line.

Kaukauna rang up eight first downs compared to one for Appleton, and completed three of 11 passes to Appleton's one completion out of eight attempts. In addition the Kaws intercepted three of the Appleton heaves, with Appleton snaring but one of Kaukauna's.

Ranquette, Danner Star
The game's outstanding performers were Ranquette and Danner of Kaukauna. Ranquette starred with his long runs and pass throwing while Danner, according to Coach Jack Licht, played the best game of backing up the line he had ever seen.

Last Saturday St. Mary's defeated St. Boniface of DePere, 14 to 6, using only second string men.

Sunday afternoon the Kaws will play St. Boniface of Manitowish at the Kaukauna high school field. No admission will be charged. Each team is undefeated so far this season, and will be playing for a day's holiday from school, the prize set up by the two principals.

By his showing in practice this week, Gene Laux will undoubtedly get into the backfield, too. Others quite apt to see action are Wal-brun, Rothe and Hahn in the line positions. A squad of 26 will make the trip.

NO CHANGES IN LINEUP

There probably will be no great changes in the St. Mary's lineup. Starting positions in the line will be Picard and Van Dyke at ends, Schwartzbauer and Lingofsky at the tackles, Koerner and Spalding at the guards and Prunuske at center. The backfield will have Schierling at quarter, DeYoung and Grade at halves and Bill Resch at fullback.

SMITH AND COOPER GOLF FAVORITES

Chicago Veterans Leading
Oklahoma City Field By 4 Points

Oklahoma City—(AP)—Horton Smith and Harry Cooper looked like the boys to beat today as 16 crack professional golfers started around the half-way point in Oklahoma City's $5,000 four-ball tournament.

As they teed off for the fourth 18-hole round in this 126-hole marathon today, Smith and Cooper, the Chicago veterans, led with four points.

Right behind them, with three points, were Johnny Revolta of Chicago and Ray Mangrum of Dayton.

Meets St. Mary's Of Menasha in Tilt Sunday Afternoon

Kickoff Scheduled for 2:15 at Little Chute Municipal Park

LITTLE CHUTE—St. Mary's of Menasha will travel to Little Chute for a Catholic conference tilt with St. John High school at 2:15 Sunday afternoon. Rivalry is keen and both squads have participated in tough drills this week in an effort to polish offensive tactics and build up defensive machines.

A 12 to 12 tie resulted when the teams met at Menasha previously and all indications point toward an equally close game at the municipal park. St. John may have a slight edge as the result of an 18 to 0 win over Kimberly last week. William Pickett, Appleton, will referee and Ole Jorgenson, Neenah, will do the umpiring.

The probable lineups:

St. John	St. Mary's
L. Helf	L. E. Spaulding
B. Lenx	L. T. Koerner
E. Van Handel	L. G. Prunuske
Hermes	C. Schwartzbauer
Van Bostel	R. T. Lingofsky
De Bruin	RT. Van Dyke
Siebers	RE. Van Dyke
Koehn	Q. Schierling
Weyenberg	LH. Grade
J. Helf	RH. De Young
Hammen	F. Resch

Others who probably will see action for St. John are Boots, Simons, Schumaker, De Bruin, Van Handel, Versteegen, Van Langfeld, G. Lamers, Van Dyke. Those ready for St. Mary's are Ebben, Hopfensperger and Kobal.

ST. MARY'S READY

Menasha—St. Mary's high school griders will open the Catholic conference season against St. John at Little Chute on Sunday afternoon in the second meeting between the two schools. Final practice sessions have been devoted to smoothing the Zephyr offense.

The Zephyrs will still be after their first victory of the season. They opened the season by losing to Appleton high school and then played a 12 to 12 tie with St. John at the Butte des Morts field and a nothing to nothing game at Kimberly. Kaukauna, Coach Miller's alma mater, scored a 14 to 0 victory when the defense slackened momentarily twice on punt returns.

From indications of the first St. John game, the contest Sunday will be bitterly fought. St. Mary's pushed their village rivals around for the first half but had a sudden lapse the second half.

Prunuski, St. Mary's center, and Grade, halfback, were hampered somewhat in practice week from bumps received in the game with the Kaws but they will be in action.

There probably will be no great changes in the St. Mary's lineup. Starting positions in the line will be Picard and Van Dyke at ends, Schwartzbauer and Lingofsky at the tackles, Koerner and Spalding at the guards and Prunuske at center. The backfield will have Schierling at quarter, DeYoung and Grade at halves and Bill Resch at fullback.

By his showing in practice this week, Gene Laux will undoubtedly get into the backfield, too. Others quite apt to see action are Wal-brun, Rothe and Hahn in the line positions. A squad of 26 will make the trip.

Wrigley Denies He Will Give Hartnett Managerial Post

Chicago—(AP)—Gabby Hartnett as manager of the Cubs and Charlie Grimm in the front office? Well, it's news to P. K. Wrigley.

Wrigley, president of the Cubs, said today he was puzzled by reports Hartnett, veteran catcher, was going to become manager of the club and that Grimm, under contract to manage again in 1938, would be made a vice president, or something.

"I don't think Grimm would fit in as an office man and I do think he is a good leader on the field," said the Cub magnate.

There will be no drastic shakeup of the team, Wrigley said. He emphatically said he has no intention of wrecking his club because it failed to win the 1937 pennant. He said efforts will be made to land a couple of slugging outfielders and that he is ready to give up some players to get them.

He made several flat statements, namely: (1) That the Cubs I not want John (Pepper) Martin or Dizzy Dean of the Cardinals (2) That the Cubs would like Joe Medwick of the same club but don't think they have a chance of getting him (3) And that the Cubs are after Van Lingle Mungo, Brooklyn pitcher, but don't intend to give up Demaree and Lee to get the big righthander.

O. who slowed Cooper and Smith by beating them, 1 up in the second round yesterday.

But Smith-Cooper scotched to the front with a 3-up win over Jimmy Thomson. Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, and Tommy Armour of Chicago in the afternoon's third round.

Revolta and Mangrum blasted Ray, Goldsmith, national open-champ from Chicago, and Billy Burke of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., out of the lead with a 3-up, third round triumph.

Mangrum clipped four strokes off par with 67 to give him and Revolta a low ball of 64, lowest to date.

Lawson Little of Chicago and Paul Runyan of New York suffered their first setback when Ed Dudley of Philadelphia and Jimmy Hines of New York whipped them, 1-up, in the third round but their 2-up victory over Ky. Lafoon and Dick Metz of Chicago left them in third place with two points.

The West-Oshkosh game was a battle. West scored twice in the first quarter with Herlache and Storz scoring. Herlache's marker was a 60-yard return of a punt.

U. S. Line Popular With Travelers to Ports of Germany

Nye & Winter Co., Appleton, Makes All Travel Arrangements

Germany, like few other nations on earth, possesses an appeal for its native sons that reaches to the remotest corners of the earth and beckons them irresistibly, young and old, to revisit at least once during a lifetime the haunts of their childhood.

To others of German ancestry who have never seen, or were too young to remember the Vaterland, the appeal seems equally strong.

It is natural, therefore, that on ships operating between New York and Hamburg one finds in all classes a high percentage of German names on the passenger lists. It is natural, too, that ships of the type of the "Manhattan" and "Washington" of the United States Lines should be so completely suited to discriminating German taste.

These two splendid liners are the largest ever built in America, and as up-to-date as tomorrow's newspaper. They have all the beauty and comfort and luxury to suit the most exacting traveler without losing the modest, friendly atmosphere of home.

Their air conditioned dining rooms are the ultimate in beauty and comfort; their lounges, veranda cafe, palm court, library, writing and smoking rooms are each uniquely beautiful in color and design. Cabins are equipped with telephones and none are without hot and cold running water. Handsome tiled swimming pools and gymnasiums supplement the advantages of broad, spacious sport decks, for those who believe in keeping fit. There are beautiful alters for those who would worship; there are playrooms for the children; there are beauty shops, barber shops, and novelty shops.

Excellent Food

It is often said that no people on earth are as appreciative of good food, tastefully and expertly prepared, as are the Germans. Certainly they have a universal reputation for producing some of the finest cooks in the world. Perhaps that is why the chefs of both the Manhattan and Washington, as well as many of the kitchen staff, are as well trained in the German culinary tradition as is the American. Perhaps, too, that is why these liners have won such wide attention for their cuisine. Each menu is an unforgettable adventure for the epicure. Among the wide variety of delicious offerings, the most popular German dishes are always listed; such items as roast goose and red cabbage, pea soup with bacon, roast lentils with cucumber sauce, apple strudel, to name only a few, are great favorites. Officers may be prepared especially to suit the individual taste.

All this is true not only of cabin class, but of tourist class and third class as well. Indeed the friendly, genial home-like atmosphere so dear to German hearts is particularly a quality of the two moderate price classes. There is everything here to promote a happy social life—deck and indoor sports, games, music, dancing and good German beer.

The Manhattan and Washington, newest and finest vessels in the United States Lines fleet, entered service in 1932 and 1933 and have been a phenomenal success in the Atlantic trade. They are 24,000 tons, large enough to have the steadiness of the giant liners, yet preserving the friendly atmosphere of the smaller ships that so many seasoned travelers prefer. They are 705 feet long and are equipped to carry about 1,050 passengers in cabin, tourist and third classes.

Weekly Service

They maintain a regular weekly service with the popular President Roosevelt and President Harding, leaving New York every Wednesday at noon for Cobh, Plymouth, Havre and Hamburg. The voyage from New York to Hamburg takes eight days and goes straight to Hamburg harbor without loss of time at Cuxhaven. Customs and immigration inspectors, boarding at Cuxhaven, complete the clearance of passengers and baggage before Hamburg is reached so that passengers may transfer to the railroad terminals without delay.

But the proof of the pudding is in the eating and you must try it, or you'll never realize what you've missed.

The Nye and Winter Co. Travel Bureau is the Appleton agent for the United States Lines and can give complete information and reserve space for you. Next time you're downtown, stop in at the Nye and Winter office, 123 N. Oneida street, and let them tell you more about travel everywhere.

Nye and Winter employees are experts on travel and are happy to spend time with you, giving you full details and itineraries. Nye and Winter Co. makes the arrangements and secures the tickets for you, whether you go by rail, bus, airplane or steamship—for any place you choose to go.

Mail is delivered regularly to London homes up to 9:30 o'clock at night.

Offer Fango di Bataglia, Imported Mud, In Hydro-Therapy Treatments

Alex M. Kwapy, who is meeting with good success in massage and hydro-therapy, will offer Fango di Bataglia, an imported Italian mud, for mud packs, and the hot paraffin wax bath, it was announced this week. Mr. Kwapy's headquarters are at 116 E. Franklin street, at the Dr. Runnels Institute, where both men and women have received satisfaction from the scientific and efficient manner of treatment.

The Dr. Runnels Institute has installed a hot paraffin bath and purchased a supply of Fango di Bataglia, so named after its source. Physicians practicing in Europe are very familiar with its technique. About a year ago it became available in this country where it is being used extensively in the east, especially in New York City. A prominent New York physician finds it to be the same product that he used while living abroad, and that it is equally efficacious here.

Fango is the Italian name for the extremely fine deposit that settles at the bottom of several lakes situated in Bataglia, in Northern Italy. The lakes are fed by hot springs of volcanic origin, issuing from the mountains of St. Helena. The volcanic material can be seen continually coming to the surface, brought by small bubbles of gas which burst and allow the infinitely small particles to sink to the bottom of the lake. Here they accumulate as a gray deposit, called Fango. The real birthplace of the particles is the volcanic crater from which the water flows.

Used For Centuries

The use of Fango di Bataglia for therapeutic purposes is mentioned by Pliny, Galen and others. The Roman emperors built magnificent marble baths at Bataglia, but they were destroyed during the great migration of nations. Later they were restored by Theodore the Great. This ancient health resort has maintained its reputation down to the present time and sends its products to distant parts of the world.

The therapeutic value of Fango in alleviating certain ailments and diseases has been established by experiments made over a long period of years at many European hospitals and clinics. For example, the famous "Fango Kuranst" in Vienna is devoted exclusively to its use.

While it was first brought to notice by the cures it effected during the ages when internal medicine was in its infancy—and it was the custom to endeavor to cure various ailments by nature's own remedies, it has maintained its position because of its scientifically demonstrated value. It has great value in restoring crippled limbs, caused by injury, fracture, rheumatism, arthritis and neuritis, to normal activity.

Appleton is considered fortunate by many in getting a supply of this radio-active material. It was introduced in this country less than a year ago and is sold only to physicians.

The public is urged to take advantage of this wonderfully effective treatment as well as other possibilities offered in Dr. Runnels' Institute of physio-therapy, which are considered the equal to the best found in any similar sanitarium in America. The facilities, it is pointed out, are at your disposal, and suffering for years is unnecessary when relief is so conveniently and readily obtained.

As to the effectiveness and popularity of Fango," says Dr. Runnels, "there will be many innocent muds foisted upon the unsuspecting public. Beware—Fango is the genuine. There is a great difference in the composition of different muds. Fango is highly radioactive. It will surely do the job if mud will do it. It costs $400 a ton to import into this country."

Drivers Make Insurance Rates, Employers Mutuals Points Out

"Accidents are costly," points out Employers Mutuals, repeating a recognized but neglected fact. "Aside from the sorrow and suffering they cause, the economic toll is terrific. And there is no need for all of them—most of them could be avoided by safe and sane driving."

"Accident make insurance rates. The rates you pay are computed from the experience of insurance companies in the payment of claims. If you want lower automobile insurance rates you must help to lower the number of accidents. This means the exercise of greater care on the part of all automobile drivers."

"Drive at a safe, sensible speed with your car under absolute control at all times. This, with a courteous consideration of others, will do more to prevent automobile accidents than anything else."

A group of suggestions, compiled from the records of Employers Mutuals claims department is given below, and it could be clipped out and saved as an excellent reminder of how to drive.

- 1—Be Courteous.
- 2—Drive with your car under absolute control ALWAYS!
- 3—Give the other fellow the right of way. He's the one you always blame anyway!
- 4—Never pass a car on a hill or curve.
- 5—Watch the car ahead of you.
- 6—Obey all traffic rules.
- 7—Signal what you intend to do, then do as you signal.
- 8—Watch out for pedestrians. They are entitled to courtesy.
- 9—Look out for school kids. Be on your guard for those who dart out between parked cars.
- 10—Drive with the same care and caution that you expect from others.

$4,000 Wage Raise For Railroad Men

30 Appleton Employees Affected by Recent 6.6 Per Cent Boost

About 30 Appleton railroad employees will realize an additional $4,000 on their total annual incomes as the result of the 6.6 per cent raise recently granted the "big five" brotherhoods.

Each of the three railroad companies in the city employees on the average 10 men affected by the raise, firemen, engineers, conductors, trainmen, and switchmen.

The raise brings each man approximately 44 cents a day more and throughout the entire nation means an annual increase of $55,000,000 on payrolls of 85 Class 1 railroads. The raise is retroactive to Oct. 1.

About 250,000 employees are affected by the 6.6 per cent boost in pay, granted after the brotherhoods had demanded 20 per cent.

Plant Maintenance to Be Studied in Class

A class in plant maintenance is being organized in the trades and industry division of the vocational school, Carl Bertram, director, said today, and will start as soon as the course of study is outlined, probably within two weeks.

The class is especially designed for millwrights and others who may be charged with responsibility for the maintenance of a plant or its equipment.

Tell of Advances Made by Builders With Insulation

Sprinkmann Sons Corp. Describes Need for Eagle Rock Wool

It used to be, when good builders built the walls in any type of building to keep out cold, they plastered the back of the laths first before the outside boarding went on and called it back plastering. The house, after this treatment, was warmer but this is an antique practice which is no longer employed in the building of a home. Now, with the increase in the cost of fuel and the intricacies of heating systems, the problem has become one of keeping the heat in a building and with that has come the absolutely recognized feasibility of insulation.

Insulation of outer walls and ceilings has a very technical quality and it cannot be done by guess work, explains the Sprinkmann Sons Corporation. When there is a difference of 70 degrees between the warmth of the rooms of the house and the cold air striking against the outer walls, heat is certainly to be lost, to be transferred across the intervening construction of the wall. That is where insulation comes in. This firm will tell you further that the most critical area of heat loss is the second-story ceiling. The warmed air, being lighter than the cool air, rises to the top of the house, lies in a blanket against the uppermost ceiling, where, unless some obstruction is provided, it will be dissipated into the attic space and lost.

Shows How

Sprinkmann Sons Corporation, located at 307 W. College avenue, answers the need for a low cost, modern, efficient insulation for bringing complete comfort at all temperatures in homes and in business establishments. The product which they use is Eagle Rock Wool Insulation which is a permanent insulation and is a continuous comfort, protection and fuel economy as long as your home is in existence. Eagle flint rock wool will absorb the atmospheric moisture in your home, an important feature. It is insulation saves from 30 to 50 per cent of your fuel bill and up to 65 per cent of your cleaning and decorating costs. It pays for itself in approximately three years.

In the past it was almost impossible to put insulation of this kind into the home and the cost used to be so high that it was practically prohibitive. Today this insulation can be applied quickly and easily without altering the lines of the house or creating any muss. Eagle Rock Wool insulation, sold locally by the Sprinkmann Sons, Corporation, will mean considerable saving to you in fuel this winter as well as keeping the heat out of the house in the summer; the whole house will be at a lower temperature under the summer sun.

Make it a point to inquire today from this reliable firm, Sprinkmann and Sons and let them give you all the advice and information you desire about this modern insulation work. A call to 2600 will send a representative to you to answer all questions you might have concerning Eagle Rock Wool Insulation and the installation of this product.

Individuality Is 1st Requirement Of All Memorials

Twin City Monument Works Offer Craftsmanship and Fair Prices

In the entire world there are all kinds of people, a fact which is expressed many times in many different ways, such as "it takes all kinds of people to make up the world." Every one is an individual, different from the rest, and each family which is made up of these individuals is also different from other families. If each life were the same, if all families and people were exactly alike, then memories would be like those of all others. But, each memory, each family, is different. Each has its own separate loves and deeds and acts—each its own record and meaning—and because they are, they can only be expressed by a separate memorial. They require a fitting separate monument. Because they are set apart in significance, they should be set apart, forever, in the cemetery.

The services of the Twin City Monument Works, located at 301-307 Main street, Neenah, offer you counsel which is based on many years of study and experience; designs which are produced by the nation's best memorial artists who are experienced in this line of work; quality of superior merit in both materials and in craftsmanship; and economy which is a result of modern production methods, efficient operation, and fair prices. When you go to this firm to have your needs taken care of, you benefit from all these above-mentioned services and you are bound to receive the best in service and workmanship.

Before you arrive at any decision about the type of work you want done, investigate the thoroughly superior service which the Twin City Monument Works offers to you.

When a mass of ice estimated at 1,000,000 tons, broke away from the Rembesdal Glacier in Central Norway and plunged into the Fennel Lake it caused a wave which destroyed crops and wrecked or damaged 22 houses.
